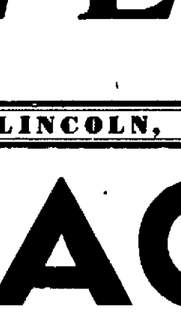
U.S. Power Faces Any Aggressor

Retaliation-Policy Criticism Countered

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said Wednesday night that "the mounting retailiatory capability of our air units gives full warning to any aggressor of the possible consequences of rash actions on his part."



Wilson

In his semi-annual report, Wilson also said U. S. strategy is aimed at handling little aggressions as big ones.

In discussing the "long pull" concept of national defense, Wilson appeared to be countering criticism of the "massive retaliation" policy. Adlai E. Stevenson, for example has expressed the view this policy is not fitted to meet local aggressions like the one in Korea. He has raised the question whether it wouldn't leave the U. S. only two choices: touching off a "thermonuclear holocaust" or letting the Reds get away with local aggressions.

Wilson, discussing the review of the whole military situation by the Defense Department and Joint Chiefs of Staff, said:

"It sought a military strategy that would deter both a major war and local aggression and, at the same time, could be implemented and maintained without undermining the social and economic foundations of the nation."

He wrote that:

"The new long range guidelines for the military security of the United States place increased emphasis on land and carrier based airpower and on the integration of new weapons into our strategy and tactics. At the same time, they provide for the maintenance of strong, well-trained and well-equipped ground and naval forces. . . . Military strength is becoming greater through the development of increased firepower on land, on sea and in the air and through the deployment of our forces in a way that will make them more readily available whenever and wherever they are needed."

In his report covering the latter six months of last year, Wilson also saw "a steady increase in the military strength of the entire free world."

McCarthy And Army All Ready

Stage Set For Opening Today Of Senate Hearings In Blaze Of TV Lights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ready-to-go public investigation of the McCarthy-army row broadened at the last minute to include new charges leveled against—and denied by—Assistant Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee named Hensel, a top aid to Secretary of Defense Wilson, "a principal" in the long-heralded hearings which will open this morning in a blaze of television lights and worldwide publicity.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged Hensel master-minded an Army report blasting him, and tried in other ways to "discredit" the committee, so as to head off a probe of Hensel's own "misconduct" and "possible law violations."

Hensel called these charges "bare-faced lies" and dared McCarthy to repeat them when senatorial immunity wouldn't protect him from a law suit. The controversy is over Hensel's connection with a ship supplying firm while he held high posts in the Navy Department during World War II.

Hensel Called Honest

Wednesday Secretary Wilson called Hensel "a competent, honest man" and said "of course not" when asked by newsmen if Hensel did, in fact, master-mind an Army report accusin McCarthy and aids of putting on pressure to get favors for a drafted associate.

At least one subcommittee Democrat, Sen. McClellan (Ark), questioned whether the Hensel affair had anything to do with the charges and counter charges the group is supposed to investigate in the hearings opening today.

But after two closed meetings the subcommittee announced it "regards him (Hensel) as a principal in this case" and asked him—as McCarthy, Secretary of the Army Stevens and the other "principals" have done—to file a statement of his position.

Termed Serious

McClellan said later he and other Democrats on the subcommittee came to the conclusion Hensel should be named a principal because "the accusations against him are just as serious as those against other Army people" in the case.

McClellan said the various accusations hurled by the McCarthy forces would add up to a conspiracy to obstruct the subcommittee, if they are proved.

Three television networks—NBC, ABC and Dumont—will carry the public hearings, beginning when Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) bangs the starting gavel around 9 a.m., CST, today.

The CBS network will televise portions of the hearings, and radio networks will broadcast excerpts.

Joe Sees 'Plot' To Put On Brakes

McCarthy Charges Plan To Sabotage Red Hunting Drive

By RELMAN MORIN

HOUSTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) asserted Wednesday that "devilishly clever plans" are being laid to sabotage the red-hunting efforts of the Senate Investigating Subcommittee which he heads.

He called the Senate hearings which begin today into his dispute with the Army a "television show of Adams versus Cohn."

In a speech delivered at Texas' San Jacinto battle ground, where Texas won independence from Mexico 118 years ago, McCarthy declared:

"Plans are now being cleverly laid—plans to make it impossible for the investigating committee to continue as an effective instrument to expose and fight the Communist conspiracy.

Says 'Devilishly Clever'

"I know all about the plans. They are clever—devilishly clever—and some good men are being used."

McCarthy said the alleged plot pivots around proposed changes in the rules under which the committee operates.

He appeared before a crowd estimated by police at 9,000, clustered around the towering San Jacinto Monument. The size of his audience was smaller than previous optimistic estimates. It was a warm, sunny day. Many stores and business establishments were closed in celebration of Texas' national holiday.

He received a standing ovation

McCarthy made four other major points:

1. He quoted the FBI that there are 25,000 Communists in the United States today.

2. Fewer than 50 of these "traitors," he said, could secrete atomic or hydrogen bombs in key centers of the country.

3. He said he believed the Peress case was the "string" that would unravel a long chain of Communist plotting.

4. He said the main purpose of the subcommittee's Red inquiry in the Army was to determine who had ordered suspended persons restored to their positions in "radar laboratories."

Refers To TV Show

His most direct reference to the subcommittee session that begin today came when he said: "When this television show of Adams versus Cohn is ended there will be an aetempt to put into effect plans . . ."

The references were to his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, and Army Chief Counsel John G. Adams.

In Washington, however, Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the subcommittee, took a somewhat broader view of the inquiry.

Asked by a reporter to name "the principals" in the case, Mundt said: "They are McCarthy, Carr and Cohn; Stevens, Adams and Hensel—three and three."

Carr is the subcommittee's chief of staff. Hensel, an assistant secretary of defense, was named a "principal" in the hearings Wednesday.

McCarthy referred only fleeting to the public hearings.

Twisters Lash Farms In State; Livestock Killed

By The Associated Press

Wrecked buildings and dead livestock were found in two parts of the state Wednesday as an aftermath of the two tornadoes which accompanied heavy rains in parts of eastern Nebraska.

The damage was centered at the Raul Hess farm eight miles southwest of Eustis and the Earl Fraser farm two miles south of the York-Fillmore County line.

The most damaging of the twisters all but wiped out the Hess farm. It also ripped through parts of half a dozen other places wrecking out-buildings and windmills. The upper story of the two-story house collapsed and all outbuildings were flattened at the Hess farm.

Hess, his wife and four children were in Eustis at the time attending a program at the high school auditorium.

The only loss of life was three cows and a hog which perished on the farm.

The other twister ripped the roof from a barn on the Fraser farm. A seven-foot board was driven through the side of the Fraser's bedroom scattering plaster. The chimney on the house also toppled.

The family was in bed when the storm struck but no one was hurt.

It was feared that many of the 90 small pigs exposed to the pouring rain in the unroofed barn might die.

Phone and power lines were ripped down in the Eustis area in the storm. Hail as well as heavy rain also fell. Eustis is in Frontier County, 15 miles south of Cozad.

Several telephone poles near the Fraser farm were ripped out disrupting service on the York-Hebron toll line.

Terry's Speech 'Appeals For Votes'

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Before recessing Wednesday for the five day period, which under its rules must elapse before public hearings are held on bills, the Legislature heard what most members considered a personal political speech by Sen. Terry Carpenter.

The Scottsbluff senator spoke in behalf of a petition he is circulating to have another special session called immediately at the conclusion of the present session.

"He covered the waterfront in an appeal for votes," one senator remarked, as Carpenter completed a 15-minute talk. The proposal was for a session to enact legislation rather than constitutional amendments to which the present session is confined.

A number of senators pointed out that the Carpenter proposal is aimed at appealing to voters in every section of the state.

Sales Tax

He suggested immediate enactment of a sales tax which would appeal to sales tax advocates, who have shown fear of having the decision left to the people. They seek to have such a law passed by the Legislature in the belief that no organized opposition will envoke the referendum and let the voters make the final decision.

"I don't think the people collectively are in a position to judge what should be done. That's why they sent us here," Carpenter declared regarding the sales tax.

Another appeal, it was pointed out, was to Omaha voters for whom he advocated tax refunds as the result of the Douglas County board increasing valuations in a manner held illegal by the Supreme Court.

For Western Nebraska he would have legislation considered for drouth relief and changes in the school land rental system. He also included road legislation by which the North Platte-McCook highway work could be started.

Another Call

To accomplish his purpose, it will be necessary for 29 senators to ask that another call be issued. The general prediction was that he would fall short of getting that number to ask for a continuance of legislative sessions.

The Legislature will be back in session Monday at 1:30 p.m. with hearings scheduled at 2 p.m. on four bills, LB 1, 2, 3, and 9. These include appointment of a tax commissioner or commission, appointment of assessors, exemption of household goods and personals effects and a homestead exemption bill.

All of the amendments make it permissive for the Legislature to pass such laws and none would be effective if the amendments carry when submitted at the November election.

One new bill—on the subject of amendments—was introduced by Sen. W. J. Williams as the Legislature completed its deliberations at 11 a.m. Most of the senators departed immediately for home in an effort to determine sentiment of their constituents on the proposals introduced.

Polio Test Officials Are Happy With Positive Parent Response

Local officials of the school-system polio vaccine tests to be conducted here have expressed complete satisfaction with the parental enthusiasm for the project to date.

This fact was made plain at a meeting held Wednesday at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association auditorium when 85 representatives from the 18 schools which will participate in the test were on hand for an instructional session.

The representatives, all volunteer PTA members who will assist with the tests in the schools, heard three speakers and then took part in a question and answer period.

Speakers were Dr. John Brown III, chairman of the Lancaster Medical Society Committee on Infantile Paralysis Field Tests; Morris Siegel, chairman of the Lancaster County Polio chapter; and Mrs. W. L. Williams, volunteer schools chairman.

"Response here has been extremely satisfactory," Mrs. William McDermet, publicity chairman for the Lincoln City Council PTA, said following the two-hour meeting.

"The enthusiasm has all been positive and the co-operation of parents of Lincoln children has been wonderful—and that's what we want," Mrs. McDermet said.

Forms have been given to parents of first, second and third graders and the positive response, while not tabulated percentagewise yet, has been above expectations, the meeting was told.

The first and third graders will participate in the blood tests April 26, while the second graders will take part in the vaccine tests April 27-28 and 29.

Beattie School Dedication Friday

The new Merle Beattie School at 19th and Calvert will be dedicated at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The short ceremony will be followed by open house.

Robert Venner, president of the board of education, will present the building. Miss Merle Beattie, for whom the building has been named, will accept it for the community. Miss Louella Hatz, school principal, will also take part in the acceptance.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The $243,000 school was opened Nov. 30, 1953 and has 205 students enrolled. The Board of Education has approved work on plans for the addition of six rooms to cost $115,000.

300 Attend Annual YW Open House

More than 300 persons attended the annual Open House festivities at the YWCA in observance of the 100th anniversary of the national YWCA movement.

The all-day affair, part of a week-long celebration, included craft exhibits, folk dancing, weaving by Mrs. C. F. McAdams, and the exhibit of all YWCA facilities. Highlight of the evening was a musical trio, Cara Hutchinson and Virginia Dahl, playing violins, and Jane Kramer, playing the accordion.

Punch was served to the visitors and the Live Y'ers held a special evening and dinner program to round out the first evening of the open house.

An Open House was also held at the Havelock YWCA.

Nixon Claims:

'Firmness' Best Plan For Asia

Way To Avoid War Is Strength In Indo-China

DES MOINES (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared Wednesday night that a policy "based on strength, firmness, consistency and non-surrender of principle at the conference table" is the "best" way to "avoid sending our boys to Indo-China."

He told some 3,000 to 4,000 persons gathered at the Iowa Republican Centennial $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Des Moines that the administration "believes that a position of strength in Asia and Indo-China is the only way to avoid war."

"We will not keep our boys out of Indo-China by telling the Communists that they can come in," Nixon said, and promised that Secretary of State Dulles at the Geneva conference will "work together with our Allies for an honorable, peaceful settlement and against any settlement which would surrender Indo-China to the Communists."

The Vice President quoted President Eisenhower to the effect that "We simply can not afford further losses in Asia" and said "that is why the American policy is to give maximum aid to the forces of the French and the Associated States . . ."

'Another Phase'

He termed the war in Indo-China one to "save the people . . . from Communist colonialism," not one "to perpetuate French colonialism," and "only another phase in the Communist War to conquer the world."

Regarding domestic policy, the Vice President praised Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson as a "man of courage, of integrity and real ability" who "can be counted on to work out a program which will solve problems of the farmer."

He said Benson's farm program, under considerable criticism from farm leaders, will give the farmer "100 per cent of parity in the market place . . ."

Earlier at a news conference, Nixon said he feels French and Vietnamese troops can "win" against the Communists in Indo-China "with the aid the United States is now giving" and without help from American soldiers.

A. G. Kennedy, Former Nebraskan, Dies At 74

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Arthur Garfield Kennedy, 74, emeritus professor of English at Stanford University and author of several books on the English language, died at his home Wednesday.

Kennedy, an active member of the Stanford faculty from 1914 until 1945, was born in Weeping Water, Neb., and attended Doane College and the University of Nebraska.

Omahan New State Church Group Head

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Steve Brace, prominent Omaha church layman, Wednesday was elected moderator of the Nebraska Congregational Conference.

He succeeds the Rev. Louis M. Albrecht, Ogallala.

Other officers will be elected at Thursday's final conference session.

More than 450 persons, 385 of them registered delegates, attended a Wednesday session at which reports were given on conference fellowships.

Sharon Sheldon, Lincoln, Pilgrim Fellowship president, said youths in that organization are asked to dedicate one day's earning each year to Christ and Christian service.

Mrs. George Hastings, Grant, Women's Fellowship president, said the purpose of the organization she heads is to cultivate the "spirit of Christ in our lives by reaching out from the home to the community and the world."

Ways in which women can accomplish that, she said, are deeper spiritual life as individuals and in their families, to promote the christian board of missions work, to foster committments of young people to full-time christian service and to accent the youth visual aid program.

Forestry Service To Move Headquarters Here May 1

An economy shakeup in the Federal Forestry Service will increase responsibilities in the Nebraska division and move its headquarters from Halsey to Lincoln May 1.

The announcement was made by Regional Forester Donald E. Clark at Denver who at the same time announced the closing of the Grand Mesa National Forest office at Grand Junction, Colo.

The reorganization will bring Russell K. Smith, Nebraska supervisor at Halsey, to Lincoln headquarters in the postoffice building. He will be aided by an assistant soon to be named.

Lynn H. Struble, present administrative assistant, will be transferred from Halsey to the Black Hills National Forest at Custer, S. D., for like duties.

Donald A. Oliver, Halsey, nurseryman, will remain in charge of both the nursery and Bessey division of the Nebraska National Forest.

John D. Grover, assistant ranger for the Medicine Bow National Forest will be transferred to Halsey to assist with fire control and range and timber management.

The increase and centralization of the Nebraska staff, it was explained, arose from the transfer to the Forest Service from the Soil Conservation Service January 1 of a large area of Bankhead-Jones tenant lands in the Chadron area.

RUSSELL K. SMITH

Besides his forestry responsibilities Smith will act as technical forestry adviser for the ACPS and small watershed programs in Nebraska and Kansas. He will also take over state and private forestry responsibilities previously handled by J. K. Brandeberry here.

Arbor Day Means More Than Trees

Thursday marks the 80th anniversary of Arbor Day. Grant McNeel, superintendent of Arbor Lodge Park at Nebraska City, home of the late J. Sterling Morton, founder of Arbor Day, tends a flowering plum plant before the pillars of the lodge. Planting has been carried on over the heavily shaded grounds to such an extent that there are now some 200 species of trees and shrubs in the area. Writings of Morton reveal that he picked the name "Arbor" for the holiday so that other plants beside trees would be included. An Arbor Day story appears on Page 13. (Star Staff Photo.)

No Bids Arrive On Sewer By-Pass

The city failed to get even one bid on the advertised $8,200 construction of a sanitary sewer by-pass from 5th and R to Salt Creek.

Purpose of the by-pass was to permit work on the main intercepting sewer on the west side of the city.

The Kansas City, Mo., firm of The Marley Co. submitted the only bid below the estimate for the purchase of wood fill for a water cooling tower. The Marley bid was $7,758 while the estimate was $7,800.

Rotted cribbing in the tower needs replacing.

It was feared that many of the 90 small pigs exposed to the pouring rain in the unroofed barn might die.

Phone and power lines were ripped down in the Eustis area in the storm. Hail as well as heavy rain also fell. Eustis is in Frontier County, 15 miles south of Cozad.

Several telephone poles near the Fraser farm were ripped out disrupting service on the York-Hebron toll line.

Terry's Speech 'Appeals For Votes'

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Before recessing Wednesday for the five day period, which under its rules must elapse before public hearings are held on bills, the Legislature heard what most members considered a personal political speech by Sen. Terry Carpenter.

The Scottsbluff senator spoke in behalf of a petition he is circulating to have another special session called immediately at the conclusion of the present session.

"He covered the waterfront in an appeal for votes," one senator remarked, as Carpenter completed a 15-minute talk. The proposal was for a session to enact legislation rather than constitutional amendments to which the present session is confined.

A number of senators pointed out that the Carpenter proposal is aimed at appealing to voters in every section of the state.

Sales Tax

He suggested immediate enactment of a sales tax which would appeal to sales tax advocates, who have shown fear of having the decision left to the people. They seek to have such a law passed by the Legislature in the belief that no organized opposition will envoke the referendum and let the voters make the final decision.

"I don't think the people collectively are in a position to judge what should be done. That's why they sent us here," Carpenter declared regarding the sales tax.

Another appeal, it was pointed out, was to Omaha voters for whom he advocated tax refunds as the result of the Douglas County board increasing valuations in a manner held illegal by the Supreme Court.

For Western Nebraska he would have legislation considered for drouth relief and changes in the school land rental system. He also included road legislation by which the North Platte-McCook highway work could be started.

Another Call

To accomplish his purpose, it will be necessary for 29 senators to ask that another call be issued. The general prediction was that he would fall short of getting that number to ask for a continuance of legislative sessions.

The Legislature will be back in session Monday at 1:30 p.m. with hearings scheduled at 2 p.m. on four bills, LB 1, 2, 3, and 9. These include appointment of a tax commissioner or commission, appointment of assessors, exemption of household goods and personals effects and a homestead exemption bill.

All of the amendments make it permissive for the Legislature to pass such laws and none would be effective if the amendments carry when submitted at the November election.

One new bill—on the subject of amendments—was introduced by Sen. W. J. Williams as the Legislature completed its deliberations at 11 a.m. Most of the senators departed immediately for home in an effort to determine sentiment of their constituents on the proposals introduced.

Polio Test Officials Are Happy With Positive Parent Response

Local officials of the school-system polio vaccine tests to be conducted here have expressed complete satisfaction with the parental enthusiasm for the project to date.

This fact was made plain at a meeting held Wednesday at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association auditorium when 85 representatives from the 18 schools which will participate in the test were on hand for an instructional session.

The representatives, all volunteer PTA members who will assist with the tests in the schools, heard three speakers and then took part in a question and answer period.

Speakers were Dr. John Brown III, chairman of the Lancaster Medical Society Committee on Infantile Paralysis Field Tests; Morris Siegel, chairman of the Lancaster County Polio chapter; and Mrs. W. L. Williams, volunteer schools chairman.

"Response here has been extremely satisfactory," Mrs. William McDermet, publicity chairman for the Lincoln City Council PTA, said following the two-hour meeting.

"The enthusiasm has all been positive and the co-operation of parents of Lincoln children has been wonderful—and that's what we want," Mrs. McDermet said.

Forms have been given to parents of first, second and third graders and the positive response, while not tabulated percentagewise yet, has been above expectations, the meeting was told.

The first and third graders will participate in the blood tests April 26, while the second graders will take part in the vaccine tests April 27-28 and 29.

Beattie School Dedication Friday

The new Merle Beattie School at 19th and Calvert will be dedicated at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The short ceremony will be followed by open house.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The $243,000 school was opened Nov. 30, 1953 and has 205 students enrolled. The Board of Education has approved work on plans for the addition of six rooms to cost $115,000.

300 Attend Annual YW Open House

More than 300 persons attended the annual Open House festivities at the YWCA in observance of the 100th anniversary of the national YWCA movement.

The all-day affair., part of a week-long celebration, included craft exhibits, folk dancing, weaving by Mrs. C. F. McAdams, and the exhibit of all YWCA facilities. Highlight of the evening was a musical trio, Cara Hutchinson and Virginia Dahl, playing violins, and Jane Kramer, playing the accordion.

Punch was served to the visitors and the Live Y'ers held a special evening and dinner program to round out the first evening of the open house.

An Open House was also held at the Havelock YWCA.

Nixon Claims:

'Firmness' Best Plan For Asia

Way To Avoid War Is Strength In Indo-China

DES MOINES (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared Wednesday night that a policy "based on strength, firmness, consistency and non-surrender of principle at the conference table" is the "best" way to "avoid sending our boys to Indo-China."

He told some 3,000 to 4,000 persons gathered at the Iowa Republican Centennial $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Des Moines that the administration "believes that a position of strength in Asia and Indo-China is the only way to avoid war."

"We will not keep our boys out of Indo-China by telling the Communists that they can come in," Nixon said, and promised that Secretary of State Dulles at the Geneva conference will "work together with our Allies for an honorable, peaceful settlement and against any settlement which would surrender Indo-China to the Communists."

The Vice President quoted President Eisenhower to the effect that "We simply can not afford further losses in Asia" and said "that is why the American policy is to give maximum aid to the forces of the French and the Associated States . . ."

'Another Phase'

He termed the war in Indo-China one to "save the people . . . from Communist colonialism," not one "to perpetuate French colonialism," and "only another phase in the Communist War to conquer the world."

Regarding domestic policy, the Vice President praised Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson as a "man of courage, of integrity and real ability" who "can be counted on to work out a program which will solve problems of the farmer."

He said Benson's farm program, under considerable criticism from farm leaders, will give the farmer "100 per cent of parity in the market place . . ."

Earlier at a news conference, Nixon said he feels French and Vietnamese troops can "win" against the Communists in Indo-China "with the aid the United States is now giving" and without help from American soldiers.

A. G. Kennedy, Former Nebraskan, Dies At 74

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Arthur Garfield Kennedy, 74, emeritus professor of English at Stanford University and author of several books on the English language, died at his home Wednesday.

Kennedy, an active member of the Stanford faculty from 1914 until 1945, was born in Weeping Water, Neb., and attended Doane College and the University of Nebraska.

Omahan New State Church Group Head

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Steve Brace, prominent Omaha church layman, Wednesday was elected moderator of the Nebraska Congregational Conference.

He succeeds the Rev. Louis M. Albrecht, Ogallala.

Other officers will be elected at Thursday's final conference session.

More than 450 persons, 385 of them registered delegates, attended a Wednesday session at which reports were given on conference fellowships.

Sharon Sheldon, Lincoln, Pilgrim Fellowship president, said youths in that organization are asked to dedicate one day's earning each year to Christ and Christian service.

Mrs. George Hastings, Grant, Women's Fellowship president, said the purpose of the organization she heads is to cultivate the "spirit of Christ in our lives by reaching out from the home to the community and the world."

Ways in which women can accomplish that, she said, are deeper spiritual life as individuals and in their families, to promote the christian board of missions work, to foster committments of young people to full-time christian service and to accent the youth visual aid program.

Forestry Service To Move Headquarters Here May 1

An economy shakeup in the Federal Forestry Service will increase responsibilities in the Nebraska division and move its headquarters from Halsey to Lincoln May 1.

The announcement was made by Regional Forester Donald E. Clark at Denver who at the same time announced the closing of the Grand Mesa National Forest office at Grand Junction, Colo.

The reorganization will bring Russell K. Smith, Nebraska supervisor at Halsey, to Lincoln headquarters in the postoffice building. He will be aided by an assistant soon to be named.

Lynn H. Struble, present administrative assistant, will be transferred from Halsey to the Black Hills National Forest at Custer, S. D., for like duties.

Donald A. Oliver, Halsey, nurseryman, will remain in charge of both the nursery and Bessey division of the Nebraska National Forest.

John D. Grover, assistant ranger for the Medicine Bow National Forest will be transferred to Halsey to assist with fire control and range and timber management.

The increase and centralization of the Nebraska staff, it was explained, arose from the transfer to the Forest Service from the Soil Conservation Service January 1 of a large area of Bankhead-Jones tenant lands in the Chadron area.

RUSSELL K. SMITH

Besides his forestry responsibilities Smith will act as technical forestry adviser for the ACPS and small watershed programs in Nebraska and Kansas. He will also take over state and private forestry responsibilities previously handled by J. K. Brandeberry here.

Arbor Day Means More Than Trees

Thursday marks the 80th anniversary of Arbor Day. Grant McNeel, superintendent of Arbor Lodge Park at Nebraska City, home of the late J. Sterling Morton, founder of Arbor Day, tends a flowering plum plant before the pillars of the lodge. Planting has been carried on over the heavily shaded grounds to such an extent that there are now some 200 species of trees and shrubs in the area. Writings of Morton reveal that he picked the name "Arbor" for the holiday so that other plants beside trees would be included. An Arbor Day story appears on Page 13. (Star Staff Photo.)

No Bids Arrive On Sewer By-Pass

The city failed to get even one bid on the advertised $8,200 construction of a sanitary sewer by-pass from 5th and R to Salt Creek.

Purpose of the by-pass was to permit work on the main intercepting sewer on the west side of the city.

The Kansas City, Mo., firm of The Marley Co. submitted the only bid below the estimate for the purchase of wood fill for a water cooling tower. The Marley bid was $7,758 while the estimate was $7,800.

Rotted cribbing in the tower needs replacing.

—Reinforcements For French On Way—

Fortress Squeeze Tightened By Reds

Huge U.S. Air Force Transports Carrying French Paratroopers To Indo-China Bases

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh besiegers squeezed Dien Bien Phu's French union defenders into a shrinking circle of reddish mud about 1¼ miles across Wednesday. The rebels kept digging ever closer to the barricades in a downpour of rain.

Besides tightening their band of flesh and steel around the fort in apparent preparation for one final mass assault, the Communist-led rebels were cutting down the "drop zone" by their constant digging. It will be harder for reinforcements and supplies to be parachuted into the fort.

But reinforcements were on the way. Huge U.S. air force troop cargo transports were airlifting French parachute troops from European and North African areas 8,500 miles to bases in Indo-China outside the combat zone.

Some of these troops will be dropped into Dien Bien Phu, authorative sources said in Paris. The 7th Battalion—French paratroop battalions usually number about 1,000 men—had been alerted since Sunday to leave.

The French Army secretary, Pierre de Chevigne, said sending the reinforcements would permit the use of troops already in Indo-China for quick reinforcement of heavily outnumbered Dien Bien Phu.

Around the fortress in the hills, in the jungles and in foxholes and burrows only 300 feet from the outer barbed wire maze were thousands of the Vietminh, including new conscripts pouring into the area last week.

The new rains forced French fighters and bombers into virtual idleness except for hitting targets outside the area.

The rebels took advantage of comparative safety from air attacks and swift movement of tanks and armored vehicles within the fortress to build new links into their encirclement chain.

Wherever they had foxholes and trenches, they dug more with their hands, picks and shovels. They kept burrowing despite barrages from French guns.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson confirmed that U. S. Air Force planes are flying French paratroops from France to Indo-China to reinforce the Communist-besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Wilson said the move is being undertaken "at the request of the French government" and is "in line with present United States policy" of providing military aid to America's allies.

He emphasized that the planes will land at airfields outside the combat zone to unload the French troops who will then be dropped into Dien Bien Phu from other planes piloted by French airmen or American fly-for-pay civilian pilots.

Vice-President Nixon told newsmen in Chicago that U.S. policy has this purpose: "That American boys will not have to fight in Indo-China or anywhere else."

Nixon also jabbed back at Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who had criticized what he termed conflicting statements issued by Eisenhower administration officials on Indo-China.

"Mr. Stevenson still is approving the do-nothing policy of Mr. Acheson." Nixon said, referring to former Secretary of State Dean Acheson. "That policy led to war in Korea..."

Five Daily Union Newspapers Will Fold Up This Week

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—International Typographical Union headquarters announced five of six newspapers it started in opposition to struck papers will cease publication Friday.

The announcement from the office of Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer, gave as reasons "political attacks" and "failure of a majority of the members to vote defense assessments."

Another statement in the Jamestown, N. Y., Sun and surviving daily, said:

"It's an established fact that no longer is it possible to find businessmen who will invest the money necessary to start competing daily newspapers."

The Sun added that a statement to be carried in the final editions of the five other ITU papers will say that many businessmen "will complain of the increasing drift toward monopoly but will do nothing about it — not even support a second daily newspaper when started by another."

Judge Troyer said Geis' record showed 31 past convictions with fines totaling $1,194 since 1941. The record covered both truck and passenger car driving.

The court record showed Paul Cusak. Lincoln. fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

No Work Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A doctor's group interested in cutting Veterans Administration medical expenses reported evidence that a VA hospital had offered to pay consultants without requiring any work of them.

The hospital in question was not named by Dr. Oscar B. Hunter Jr., of Washington, veterans affairs chairman for the National Medical Veterans Society (NMVS), who said affidavits concerning the matter had been given to the Senate Appropriations Committee. The idea, he said, was that "it was necessary to use up the (hospital's) appropriation for the year."

Young Democrats Hear Urban League Speaker

"Discrimination in any form . . . does not help the United States in its world leadership, and wrecks leadership on the local level," Sidney Alexander, executive secretary of the Lincoln Urban League, said Wednesday night at the YMCA.

And this harmful discrimination can take the form of prejudice against a man's color, creed, race, or the fact that he wears a uniform, he told the 20 persons attending the Lancaster Young Democrats' business meeting.

—Reinforcements For French On Way—

Fortress Squeeze Tightened By Reds

Huge U.S. Air Force Transports Carrying French Paratroopers To Indo-China Bases

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh besiegers squeezed Dien Bien Phu's French union defenders into a shrinking circle of reddish mud about 1¼ miles across Wednesday. The rebels kept digging ever closer to the barricades in a downpour of rain.

Besides tightening their band of flesh and steel around the fort in apparent preparation for one final mass assault, the Communist-led rebels were cutting down the "drop zone" by their constant digging. It will be harder for reinforcements and supplies to be parachuted into the fort.

But reinforcements were on the way. Huge U.S. air force troop cargo transports were airlifting French parachute troops from European and North African areas 8,500 miles to bases in Indo-China outside the combat zone.

Some of these troops will be dropped into Dien Bien Phu, authorative sources said in Paris. The 7th Battalion—French paratroop battalions usually number about 1,000 men—had been alerted since Sunday to leave.

The French Army secretary, Pierre de Chevigne, said sending the reinforcements would permit the use of troops already in Indo-China for quick reinforcement of heavily outnumbered Dien Bien Phu.

Around the fortress in the hills, in the jungles and in foxholes and burrows only 300 feet from the outer barbed wire maze were thousands of the Vietminh, including new conscripts pouring into the area last week.

The new rains forced French fighters and bombers into virtual idleness except for hitting targets outside the area.

The rebels took advantage of comparative safety from air attacks and swift movement of tanks and armored vehicles within the fortress to build new links into their encirclement chain.

Wherever they had foxholes and trenches, they dug more with their hands, picks and shovels. They kept burrowing despite barrages from French guns.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson confirmed that U. S. Air Force planes are flying French paratroops from France to Indo-China to reinforce the Communist-besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Wilson said the move is being undertaken "at the request of the French government" and is "in line with present United States policy" of providing military aid to America's allies.

He emphasized that the planes will land at airfields outside the combat zone to unload the French troops who will then be dropped into Dien Bien Phu from other planes piloted by French airmen or American fly-for-pay civilian pilots.

Vice-President Nixon told newsmen in Chicago that U.S. policy has this purpose: "That American boys will not have to fight in Indo-China or anywhere else."

Nixon also jabbed back at Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who had criticized what he termed conflicting statements issued by Eisenhower administration officials on Indo-China.

"Mr. Stevenson still is approving the do-nothing policy of Mr. Acheson," Nixon said, referring to former Secretary of State Dean Acheson. "That policy led to war in Korea..."

Chamber Women Host 200 Home Ec Extension Heads

The Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce was host to nearly 200 presidents of home extension clubs in Otoe, Cass, Lancaster, Seward and York Counties Wednesday.

The afternoon's events began with a demonstration "Starring Cheese" by Mrs. Lucille Fleming, executive director, Dairy Council of Lincoln. The women then toured the new building of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co.

A tea at the governor's mansion climaxed their afternoon. They were greeted at the door by the Governor's wife; Miss Lois Tefft, president, Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Chairman Agriculture Committee, Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce.

Five Daily Union Newspapers Will Fold Up This Week

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—International Typographical Union headquarters announced five of six newspapers it started in opposition to struck papers will cease publication Friday.

The announcement from the office of Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer, gave as reasons "political attacks" and "failure of a majority of the members to vote defense assessments."

Another statement in the Jamestown, N. Y., Sun and surviving daily, said:

"It's an established fact that no longer is it possible to find businessmen who will invest the money necessary to start competing daily newspapers."

The Sun added that a statement to be carried in the final editions of the five other ITU papers will say that many businessmen "will complain of the increasing drift toward monopoly but will do nothing about it — not even support a second daily newspaper when started by another."

Lincoln Man Fined $300 For Expired Plates, Registration

OMAHA (AP)—John Geis Jr., Lincoln, Wednesday was fined $300 in County Court here on a charge of having expired license plates and no registration certificate for his truck or trailer.

County Judge Robert Troyer told Geis, 30, "I should put you in jail to wake you up but I won't." He fined Geis $100 and costs on each of three counts.

Judge Troyer said Geis' record showed 31 past convictions with fines totaling $1,194 since 1941. The record covered both truck and passenger car driving.

The court record showed Paul Cusak, Lincoln, fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

This year the Institute will be held April 27-28. Wednesday, however, the pre-Institute fun got underway with the businessmen providing the fun by going to the "clink." News Around The Globe

Rest Flights Halt

TOKYO (Thursday) (AP)—The Far East command today announced suspension of rest leave air flights between South Korea and Japan because of a diversion of aircraft for priority requirements.

There was immediate speculation that the huge C-124 Globemasters and C-54 transports had been diverted because of the troop airlift from France to Indo-China.

Patrolman Donald Parker caught the youngsters. The mother and children were not immediately identified.

Police said at least five persons suffered slight injuries by leaping from windows. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Girl Goes Beserk

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Police reported that an 11-year-old grade school girl went beserk because she was forbidden by her grandmother from viewing Milton Berle's TV program during an electrical storm.

Officers said the girl slapped her grandmother, stabbed her 10-year-old brother in the back with a pair of scissors, slashed her mother in the head with a butcher knife and then locked herself in the bathroom. None was seriously hurt. The girl was taken to the juvenile detention home for observation and counseling. Because of her age her name was not made public.

No Work Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A doctor's group interested in cutting Veterans Administration medical expenses reported evidence that a VA hospital had offered to pay consultants without requiring any work of them.

The hospital in question was not named by Dr. Oscar B. Hunter Jr., of Washington, veterans affairs chairman for the National Medical Veterans Society (NMVS), who said affidavits concerning the matter had been given to the Senate Appropriations Committee. The idea, he said, was that "it was necessary to use up the (hospital's) appropriation for the year."

Ships Near War

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said U.S. aircraft carriers maneuvering in the South China Sea "probably" have been close enough to Indo-China to launch warplanes against Communist targets.

Wilson told his news conference he understands the carriers have returned to Subic Bay, near Manila. He declined to say how many U.S. ships have been operating in proximity of Indo-China.

Young Democrats Hear Urban League Speaker

"Discrimination in any form . . . does not help the United States in its world leadership, and wrecks leadership on the local level," Sidney Alexander, executive secretary of the Lincoln Urban League, said Wednesday night at the YMCA.

And this harmful discrimination can take the form of prejudice against a man's color, creed, race, or the fact that he wears a uniform, he told the 20 persons attending the Lancaster Young Democrats' business meeting.

Diesing Fined For Careless Driving

James Diesing, 30, of Omaha was fined $25 in Lancaster County Court after he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Diesing is administrative assistant to Gov. Robert Crosby.

Dept. Sheriff Robert Anderson told the court that Diesing was arrested about 5:10 a m. Wednesday after the defendant's car was observed crossing the center line into the wrong lane of traffic several times on the highway west of Waverly, while proceeding toward Lincoln.

Diesing's car got back into its lane of traffic after oncoming trucks blinked their lights, Anderson said "The cat was on the shoulder one time."

Asked by Judge Herbert Ronin if this was a borderline drunk-driving case, Anderson said that "to my knowledge" Diesing had not been drinking.

He said Diesing was kept in jail until morning because he was "unco-operative" when questioned about his driving

In court, Diesing explained "I was sleepy."

SA Directors Plan To Recommend Red Shield Site

Members of the Salvation Army board of directors, meeting Wednesday noon at the Chamber of Commerce, will recommend to the Army's headquarters in Chicago that a site on 27th and Potter Streets be purchased for the Red Shield club building.

The site is on the southwest corner of the intersection of the two streets and is a lot about 190 by 130 feet.

Red Shield youth activities have been held at the Citadel since the sale of the old club building at 1009 No. 23rd.

Capt. Walter Kennedy said the new building and location cost will be about $100,000 and will be financed from funds received from the Lila E. Sharp estate and other legacies.

Education Leadership Group Urges 3-Year District Reorganization Law

The steering committee of the Governor's Lay Leadership Coneference on Education has recommended a school district reorganization law to bring action at the county level within three years.

The discontinuing of provisional teaching certificates and the passage of laws which yearly will tighten teacher certification standards so that more hours of college work will be required for each certificate were also recommended.

School finance will be taken up before a May 18 meeting of the committee. All the committee recommendations will then be taken before a meeting next autumn of the entire conference, which is composed of more than 40 statewide organization representatives

The school reorganization bill drawn by the committee provides:

1. A county nine-member reorganization committee which in three years must draw up comprehensive redistricting plan for the entire county. The committee is to be elected from organized school districts.

2. A state reorganization committee to be appointed by the State Board of Education and to include five laymen, three educators, and the state superintendent of public instruction. It would accept or reject county plans.

3. A vote by the people in the proposed new districts to be called after the state committee approves the plans

4 A $93,000 appropriation for the 1955-57 biennium so the state committee can hire the necessary trained personnel to "loan" to county committees requesting help.

The committee proposal, on teacher certification, would require more college hours each year until 1961, when two years of college would be the minimum for a so-called third grade teacher's certificate. Only a normal training course in high school is now required

The junior elementary certificate would be tightened up so that by 1961 the minimum requirements, a bachelor's degree, would be the same as the senior elementary certificate.

It also provides that by 1968 the minimum requirement for administrative and supervisory certificate would be a master's degree

THE GROWING TREND TO LINCOLN

To a lady with her eye on fashion and a man with his eye on action

Young lady—do you keep ahead? In fashions? In home decorations? In the way you live? If so, we're talking to you.

And sir—if you like action, this message is specifically for you. For the new Lincoln is the one fine car that comes closest to tomorrow—in design and performance.

Notice first the clean, trim look of the Lincoln. No bulging fenders or useless chrome. Functional beauty is built in every line. Second—drive this fine car. No other one on the road gives you such effortless response; for 2 years in a row Lincoln took 1st. 2nd. 3rd, 4th places among all stock cars in the Mexican Pan-American Road Race. (The Lincoln V-8 engine is the finest specimen of today's high-output, low-friction design. It has such exclusives as the vacuum-operated 4-barrel carburetor . . . and a precision-molded crankshaft for the utmost smoothness.)

And the Lincoln ride is purposely designed to be different—with its own kind of balance, poise and smoothness. The firm control, stability and easier handling are the result of the first major front suspension improvement in many years—the new ball-joint suspension found only in Lincoln among the fine cars

Won't you see the new Lincoln for yourself—and then drive it? Come in and let us hand you the keys to a Lincoln or a Lincoln Capri.

For the fourth straight year, Lincoln won first place in its field for economy in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run.

The site is on the southwest corner of the intersection of the two streets and is a lot about 190 by 130 feet.

Red Shield youth activities have been held at the Citadel since the sale of the old club building at 1009 No. 23rd.

Capt. Walter Kennedy said the new building and location cost will be about $100,000 and will be financed from funds received from the Lila E. Sharp estate and other legacies.

Education Leadership Group Urges 3-Year District Reorganization Law

The steering committee of the Governor's Lay Leadership Coneference on Education has recommended a school district reorganization law to bring action at the county level within three years.

The discontinuing of provisional teaching certificates and the passage of laws which yearly will tighten teacher certification standards so that more hours of college work will be required for each certificate were also recommended.

School finance will be taken up before a May 18 meeting of the committee. All the committee recommendations will then be taken before a meeting next autumn of the entire conference, which is composed of more than 40 statewide organization representatives.

The school reorganization bill drawn by the committee provides:

1. A county nine-member reorganization committee which in three years must draw up comprehensive redistricting plan for the entire county. The committee is to be elected from organized school districts.

2. A state reorganization committee to be appointed by the State Board of Education and to include five laymen, three educators, and the state superintendent of public instruction. It would accept or reject county plans.

3. A vote by the people in the proposed new districts to be called after the state committee approves the plans.

4. A $93,000 appropriation for the 1955-57 biennium so the state committee can hire the necessary trained personnel to "loan" to county committees requesting help.

The committee proposal, on teacher certification, would require more college hours each year until 1961, when two years of college would be the minimum for a so-called third grade teacher's certificate. Only a normal training course in high school is now required.

The junior elementary certificate would be tightened up so that by 1961 the minimum requirements, a bachelor's degree, would be the same as the senior elementary certificate.

It also provides that by 1968 the minimum requirement for administrative and supervisory certificate would be a master's degree.

THE GROWING TREND TO LINCOLN

To a lady with her eye on fashion and a man with his eye on action

Young lady—do you keep ahead? In fashions? In home decorations? In the way you live? If so, we're talking to you.

And sir—if you like action, this message is specifically for you. For the new Lincoln is the one fine car that comes closest to tomorrow—in design and performance.

Notice first the clean, trim look of the Lincoln. No bulging fenders or useless chrome. Functional beauty is built in every line. Second—drive this fine car. No other one on the road gives you such effortless response; for 2 years in a row Lincoln took 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th places among all stock cars in the Mexican Pan-American Road Race. (The Lincoln V-8 engine is the finest specimen of today's high-output, low-friction design. It has such exclusives as the vacuum-operated 4-barrel carburetor . . . and a precision-molded crankshaft for the utmost smoothness.)

And the Lincoln ride is purposely designed to be different—with its own kind of balance, poise and smoothness. The firm control, stability and easier handling are the result of the first major front suspension improvement in many years—the new ball-joint suspension found only in Lincoln among the fine cars.

Won't you see the new Lincoln for yourself—and then drive it? Come in and let us hand you the keys to a Lincoln or a Lincoln Capri.

For the fourth straight year, Lincoln won first place in its field for economy in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run.

DESIGNED FOR MODERN LIVING — LINCOLN — POWERED FOR MODERN DRIVING

Glimpse Of Nebraska

We asume most or all the members of the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature know that much of the discussions in the constitutional convention of 1920 were devoted to the field of taxation.

The final result was a very broad section—designed primarily to insure equality in the valuation of real and personal property. . . . Two or three men who sat in that convention have assured us that purposely it left to legislative action, decision on new levies, new forms of taxation or a broadened tax base. . . . The delegates to the constitutional convention of 1920 were smart. . . . Nebraskans should think twice before they spell out, step by step, what shall or what shall not be the tax program in Nebraska.

Best news of the week were the widespread soaking rains which covered central and eastern Nebraska counties. . . . They may have been the answer to the study of moisture conditions which the weatherman completed earlier in the week . . . They took care of a portion of the state which had been slighted for weeks . . . Nebraskans who know their state realize that the remaining days of April, the month of May and the first half of June will reveal in full fidelity the lines of the crop picture for 1954.

★

Lincoln's Jaycees used their heads in bestowing upon Mayor Clark Jeary their first award to be given annually to those public servants who make notable contributions to good government. As mayor Mr. Jeary started with one distinct advantage. He knows this community and its people. . . . It would be worse than oversight to overlook the fact that the mayor has been willing and in the position to devote more time and energy to the job than any man in recent years. . . . He has been on top of it every hour of the day and as a result has been able to initiate much that will bear good fruit in the future.

Would It Be Money Bags?

There is so much common sense in John Jirdon's proposal to reform the Nebraska primary system. In the event of a big field of candidates, which seems in the making in the Republican primary contest for United States senator, Mr. Jirdon suggests a second runoff or election if the winner fails to muster 51 per cent of the party vote.

That is the situation in several southern states.

In neighboring Iowa the battle goes to a party convention in the event the primary winner fails to receive 40 per cent of the total primary vote.

At first blush, Mr. Jirdon's suggestion, made in an address to the Rotary Club at Scottsbluff, is reasonable and sound. Yet in a practical sense obviously in many cases it would bar the door against any aspiring, public-spirited candidates with ambition to particpate actively in government from ever becoming a candidate. It costs money to run for office. That fact in itself would cause any thoughtful man to give earnest attention to entering a primary contest in which by reason of a multiplicity of candidates, he knew the chances of a second runoff campaign loomed impressively on the horizon.

It has happened frequently in this country that men born to the purple, so to speak, have become most dedicated, useful public servants. And it also has been demonstrated that men of most limited financial resources and humble beginnings have risen to the loftiest stature in the service they rendered their countrymen.

Naturally nothing in Mr. Jirdon's suggestion has any bearing upon the elections of 1954.

He was thinking in terms of the future.

Sane and solid as the suggestion may be, Nebraskans will want to reflect upon whether they want to saddle the primary system with the requirement that any candidate who files must be "well-heeled."

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

There may or may not be grounds for reading into a Republican primary contest in New Jersey Tuesday an amazing repudiation of McCarthyism in the attempted comeback bid of J. Parnell Thomas, former chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee. Mr. Thomas ran without support of the Republican party organization. He had grabbed McCarthy's coattails in his pre-primary campaign, endorsed McCarthy methods without reservation, and had insisted that a vote for Thomas signified approval of the junior Wisconsin senator.

★

Much as many of us would like to think that the issue of McCarthy had been joined squarely in this New Jersey House contest, the fact is that Thomas's record was enough to beat him. He had been convicted in 1949 of federal payroll padding, later pardoned by former President Truman. Whatever the voters may have thought of McCarthy, at this distance it is difficult to see where they could have swallowed Thomas simply because Thomas thinks McCarthy is a great guy. With the vote nearly complete, Widnall (the present Republican congressman in that district) had piled up a lead of 34,974 to 4,473. Mr. Thomas had taken the count by a margin of eight to one. If the New Jersey primary was to provide any clue to McMarthy's present standing in the country, obviously Thomas was not the man to furnish that test. Forgotten now, in the heyday of his congressional activities he was scarcely less adept than the master in grabbing headlines when it came to so-called "Red hunting".

Own Record Enough To Beat Him

Nor is there any reason to believe that the showdown between McCarthy and the Army will produce substantial results beyond sound and fury. There is a possibility, an outside chance, that something could happen, something unforeseen, in the proceedings scheduled to get under way in the national capital today, but if that is the case, it will be in spite of and not because of a deliberate design to come to grips with McCarthy.

★

As a result of the recall campaign initiated by a former McCarthy supporter in Wisconsin, LeRoy Gore, small-town newspaper editor, a lot of forgotten history is coming to public attention. Joe McCarthy, it appears, never has been the idol of Wisconsin voters many outside the state assume that he is. In 1946, the Milwaukee Journal pointed out, McCarthy polled only 47 per cent of the Republican primary vote to beat the late Sen. La Follette by a scant 5,396 votes. And Bob La Follette scarcely lifted a hand to win renomination. In 1952 McCarthy won by only 139,042 votes over his Democratic opponent, while the Republican candidate for secretary of state won by 505,300—Gov. Kohler, by 407,327—the Republican candidate for attorney general, by 431,275—the GOP state treasurer went in by 429,350—and Eisenhower carried the state by 357,569. McCarthy lost Milwaukee County by a vote of 260,626 to 163,003. He lost two other important, populous Wisconsin counties where he had major newspaper opposition. It could be that the President's decision to delete a pointed reference in praise of Gen. George C. Marshall, whom McCarthy had savagely attacked, from Mr. Eisenhower's Milwaukee speech in 1952 was the decisive factor in the re-election of the man who is the party's chief headache today.

Wisconsin's Measure Of The Man

And unless business in Washington compels a change in plans, Sen. McCarthy, apparently upon the invitation of Nebraska GOP State Chairman Dave Martin (now resigned and a candidate in the Republican primary for the United States Senate), will keynote the Nebraska Republican gathering at Fremont. Those who attend will not listen to a spokesman for any executive department in the Eisenhower administration. They perforce must turn an ear to Joe McCarthy. What the party needs, Rep. Harrison of the Third Nebraska District said at the Founders Day gathering, is maby, many more McCarthys. On that day no one within Republican ranks stood up verbally to slap Mr. Harrison's ears. On the basis of the New Jersey returns, maybe some Nebraska Republicans may be encouraged to challenge McCarthy. As they say, that is on the lap of the gods.

Planning Is Thrifty

A great deal has been said about city planning. And to many people, that means a board of leading citizens laying out a community program for fulfillment some time in the distant future.

There is a great deal of that in planning. A town should envision its future form and take orderly steps toward it. Hit-and-miss development is costly and always unsatisfactory.

But proper planning also has a great deal to do with the cost of running the present community. Nebraska has its share of cities with excessive taxes. They are paying indemnities for absence of planning and poor timing of their investments.

A study of the past 12 months in the municipal bond market illustrates the point. The market lay in a trough that held interest rates down nationally to an average of less than 2½ per cent. In Nebraska some issues sold in the neighborhood of 1½ per cent. That is mighty cheap money. It was time for alert towns to move into the market. It meant expansion and rehabilitation programs at savings of thousands of dollars in interest rates.

Lincoln was a benificiary of that attractive market when it sold its water improvement bonds last summer. It has benefited, too, in its paving issues.

But Business Week now says that interest rates are moving back up. The public is showing less zeal for low rate municipals. Some towns took no cognizance of the market and issued no bonds. They were poor planners. The bargain ran out on them. And they are still unrehabilitated.

Really No Worry

Baseball managements always have to have something to worry about. From the spectators' point of view the Lincoln Chiefs got off to a glowing start. Popular Norm Brown pitched like a master. Lincoln fielding was sharp. The game ended in a dramatic 10-inning victory. The stands dripped with happy fans. But the management was in a funk. It found some confusion in seat reservations and is still brooding darkly over it. The management can brighten up. There can never be but one calamity in baseball. That is when there are not enough reservations to produce any confusion. And it looks like that situation is going to be a little hard to conjure this year.

Brownell Gives Joe Political Hot Foot

WASHINGTON — The inside story of how the Eisenhower administration indicted a Las Vegas publisher at the behest of Joe McCarthy is one of the most amazing Washington has seen in a long time.

The real fact is that McCarthy didn't actually want the publisher prosecuted. Certain Justice Department officials pushed the action despite him, possibly to embarrass him.

What happened was that Hank Greenspun, editor and publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, wrote a column on January 8 that "Joe has to come to a violent end . . . live by the sword and you die by the sword!" Greenspun continued. "Destroy people and they in turn must destroy you . . ."

McCarthy sent a copy of this column to Postmaster General Summerfield as a move to take second-class mailing privileges from the Las Vegas Sun. That apparently was as far as he wanted to go. Obviously if he had wanted criminal prosecution he would have sent the column direct to the Justice Department to which he has referred various other matters in the past.

JOE'S FRIEND

McCarthy happens to be chairman of the Senate Subcommittee for Post Office Appropriations. Once before he and Summerfield put their heads together to embarrass another McCarthy critic—Henry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune—when Summerfield is reported to have furnished McCarthy under-the-table figures on Luce's profits and McCarthy proceeded to build a fire against the magazines' second-class mailing privileges.

Furthermore, Summerfield has been one of Joe's consistent friends inside the cabinet and was the man who, during the election campaign, took Joe up the service elevator of the Pere Marquette Hotel in Peoria, Ill., to persuade Eisenhower to drop any praise of General Marshall from his Milwaukee speech.

However, when Attorney General Brownell heard about McCarthy's complaint to the post office, he decided to examine it carefully. And in the Greenspun column Justice Department officials found that McCarthy was described as "disreputable."

This was a charge Greenspun had been making about McCarthy for some time and getting away with it. McCarthy had not sued, though copies of the newspapers containing these charges had been mailed all over the United States.

Brownell, therefore, took the entire column and made it a matter of court record, with the result that it has now become privileged and has been quoted by other publications with complete immunity. In other words, Brownell did to McCarthy what McCarthy did to General Marshall and others when he launched attacks on them from the libel-proof safety of the Senate floor.

Brownell did this by indicting Greenspun on the ground that he incited attacks on McCarthy's life. But it's significant that he did not cite the perversion charge as grounds for criminal libel though he could have done so. Nor did he delete this part of the Greenspun column. He made it all a matter of court record.

Note — Greenspun came into the U.S. district court in Nevada the other day to face charges, but neither the U.S. attorney nor the U.S. marshal nor the judge seemed much interested. They finally told him to come back next fall when a new judge would be appointed. Judge Roger Foley said he wasn't going to try the case himself. They didn't even ask the publisher to post bail.

BENSON WON'T BUDGE

While public debate over rigid price supports continues on the Senate floor, here are some of the things that have been happening off the floor in Senate cloakrooms.

President Eisenhower has passed word through his close friend, Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, that he might agree to a one-year extension of rigid high price supports. This would be an acceptable compromise to Sen. Milt Young of North Dakota, Republican, and Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana, Democrat, the two leaders of the farm bloc who are pushing hardest for rigid price supports.

O, Those Old Spring Cleaning Time Blues

Contrary to reports circulated by malicious neighbors, this posture is not the result of searching the skies for flying saucers. It is the spring cleaning bend.

If anyone implies that spring cleaning is unnatural, he is right. You need only to look once at me for proof. I stand and walk upright until you get to my neck, but from there up I recline, as if in constant search for the Big Dipper. I am a perambulating right angle. When outdoors, I've go to keep the top of my head faced into the wind for fear of the breeze in my nostrils. It builds up pressure.

The reason is. I have been cleaning ceilings.

The experience has brought me to one important conclusion: Ceilings ought to be made detachable, so you can take them down and stand them up on their sides for cleaning. The only alternative seems to be standing on a stepladder, bending your back for a fly's-eye view, and scrubbing the grime off with a sponge. After four hours and three or four ceilings, the neck loses its resilience. There is no more spring in it. No matter where you want to look, you look up.

The greatest problem, as a result, presents itself at meal times. The last time I got down off the stepladder was for lunch. In order to see what there was to eat, I tried to induce my family to hold me out horizontally at table level, so my head would be vertical.

"No need for that," Mrs. F. said. "It's soup, so we'll just get a funnel and pour it down!"

"I'll betcha that we could straighten daddy's neck out," offered our daughter, "if we used a hammer and crowbar on his head."

Everybody but me was in favor of it. I told 'em I'd rather have the noodles signal for a left turn, going down.

Next to eating, my L-shaped upper extremity causes most inconvenience downtown. All I have to do is wander down the sidewalk, and within 15 minutes everyone in a radius of two miles is scanning the skies for attacking aircraft. The civil defense people ought to hire somebody like me to encourage volunteer plane spotters.

What worries me right now is sleeping. With a pillow under my head, I'll be a suspension arch. The only other way is to put it under the back of my neck, and rub noses with the headboard all night. I hope it isn't splintery.

(Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

DORIS FLEESON

No Hope Of Hearing Subduing McCarthy

WASHINGTON — A member of the Senate subcommittee which will investigate the McCarthy-Army dispute has received a pile of mail containing suggestions for the conduct of the hearings. He sends his correspondents a form reply as follows.

"I am grateful for your interest but I know of no way to set up rules which will insure that the bull in the China shop will break only the blue China.

This is one way of expressing what all the subcommittee members accept as fact. It is that a United States senator is a hard man to restrain at best, and when he is Joseph R. McCarthy who has never displayed any terminal facilities whatsoever it is next to impossible, rules or no rules.

In short, the senators expect McCarthy to carry on as before unless he should become persuaded that it was hurting him to do so.

Democratic strategy in the hearings will be directed at only two things:

1—Maintaining a goldfish bowl atmosphere in which the public will get to see, hear and read all about it. No matter how rough the going becomes, the minority will oppose executive sessions.

2—Giving both sides equal rights. In practice this means allowing the Army to take the same liberties McCarthy does.

On the eve of the public hearings there are only two new and unknown quantities in the picture. One is the picturesque subcommittee counsel from the Tennessee mountains, Ray H. Jenkins. The other is the firepower in McCarthy's last-minute diversionary attack on Assistant Defense Secretary H. Struve Hensel.

A big man physically and a big frog in his little puddle, Jenkins conceivably could become a popular voice of conscience in this inquiry in the manner of the late Sen. Tobey in the Kefauver crime committee hearings. Like Toby, Jenkins has a homespun personality which befits such a role. He has said that he told his folks he just came down here from the mountains to get the truth.

A somewhat more sophisticated senator did a double take on that one but now is almost ready to believe it. It is to the counsel's advantage also that he is a fresh face in this weary capital.

Hensel, McCarthy's new target, held important Navy posts both in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He left here in 1946 but returned as general counsel to the Defense Department in 1953 and was nominated by President Eisenhower Feb. 17 as assistant defense secretary.

The misfeasance charged against him by McCarthy is substantial and pivots on the grave accusation that he used his position to enrich himself in wartime.

Bermuda, Britain's oldest crown colony, is cradled in warm seas. The beaches are talcum soft and pink and the water turquoise. Cottages are lily-bordered. Hundreds and hundreds of fragrant waxy-white trumpets are opening to proclaim Easter time again. A world of enchantment in 21 square miles teaches a lesson in serenity. Here have we come to see and rejoice in the natural beauty that is Bermuda.

Mrs. Swingle

Discovered by Spanish seamen led by Juan de Bermadez is early 1500, he left the islands his name and said of it, "they haunt only of tempest, thunders and other fearful objects." In 1609 Sir George Somer's flagship, "Sea Venture," wallowing in a four-day storm was blown off course and landed here with his company of 150. The storm abated and left them with sun, sea and serenity.

The pink beaches are pulverized coral and there are 150 different native plants and cahow birds, a member of the petrel family, and over all there is a fragrance of aromatic cedar and flowers. Unfortunately like the cahow birds, the fragrant cedars of Bermuda are practically extinct. About the middle 1940's they were attacked by a blight that rapidly took its toll, and only gaunt, ghostlike skeletons of the once stately cedars now greet the visitors from every beach and hilltop. It is a sad, sad sight. True enough, there are hundreds of other trees, date palms over 200 years old, oleanders treelike in size and now in full bloom (white, pink and rosy-red) and grape trees, which are new to me, with very large, almost round shiny, dark green leaves.

Today, which is Good Friday, April 16, we shall motor to St. George, the oldest settlement in Bermuda, a city of 17th century charm 7½ miles from our hotel, to attend services at St. Peter's Church, the oldest church in the western hemisphere, older by many years than the church in St. Augustine, Fla., or the one in Santa Fe, N.M., which predates St. Augustine.

Early Friday morning April's waning moon will enter the movable, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Capricorn. Attention, if weather permits, plant radishes, beets, carrots, and onions Friday or Saturday while the moon is in Capricorn. This is also the day to plant potatoes. You who planted on Good Friday will have luxuriant foliage and blooms but very few potatoes, come July. Sunday, April 25, just after 12 noon, the decreasing moon will enter the fixed, airy and barren sign, Aquarius, and next Tuesday at 6:21 p.m. it will enter the flexed, watery and fruitful sign, Pisces.

We met Jean and Mary Kinder almost the moment we went aboard the Ocean Monarch in New York harbor, and with them were their daughter, Ann, and granddaughter, Jeanie, of Chicago. We quickly caught up with Lincoln happenings, but have not seen them since we docked Wednesday at 9 a.m. They are at the Reefs, about the same distance out of Hamilton as our hotel, only in opposite directions, which makes us perhaps 15 miles apart.

Our picture today is the passion flower of Bermuda. Mrs. Windle and I shall wear corsages of it today and for Easter.

So until another day—

Laws Of God

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is impossible to take religion out of our government. Our very jurisprudence is religion and the serious conditions we find in our country today are due to laws written without religious guidance.

When the Mayflower set sail to the new world, it carried a cargo of people who possessed two precious things—the Gospel and the common law. The common law became a basic part of our national existence. That common law was based on the commandments, statutes and judgments of the Holy Scriptures. The preamble of King Alfred's Dooms was thus: "The law that God spake to Moses, Christ said He came not to break or forbid but to keep." Then followed the Ten Commandments verbatim and after those other commandments and statutes of the Holy Writ. These laws are with us today governing our daily conduct, although somewhat modified by written law and here lies our great difficulties as the laws were written by men too often not learned in the moral, ethical and economic laws of God.

Here are a few of the many mistakes written into our law by our lawmakers: The land title can be alienated (this started as far back as the rule in Shelley's case), but we do not as yet permit the sale of land and are still transferring only certain rights ("Woe unto them that lay field to field." Read Leviticus 25 and 26 Chapt. for land laws). The monetary laws have been changed and we are in bondage for over 600 billions of dollars in public and private debt. Taxation has been changed from a 10 per cent levy on income (increase) over a three-year period to a levy on everything: premeditated homicide from "surely put to death" to a few years of incarceration in some instances: theft from absolute restitution plus a penalty to penal servitude: the statute of limitations reduced from seven to four years. These are only a few of the many mistakes made in rewritting the laws of God.

The great need is more of the great principles and precepts of Holy Writ in our government. Too long now have we had too little.

"Righteous keeping of divine law exalteth a nation. God's law is perfect." Men make imperfect laws. Watch our lawmakers try to settle the tax question and see how many really know that God's law permits only taxation of income, and then only 10 per cent.

Taxation Changes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The calling of the Legislature surely indicates a general overhaul of our state system of taxation. Our schools are hard pressed for financial support and they will be very fortunate to come through the tax revision hurly-burly even as well off as they are at present.

A half century ago schools were largely financed from licenses for saloons, prostitution and gambling. The fathers of the state explicitly provided in our constitution that all such revenues from vice and crime go to the school. Now the sturdy language of our constitution has been made to look like weasel words. Happily, licensed prostitution is abolished but the rich revenues from liquor selling by legal legerdemain have been completely diverted to other purposes. Millions go into legalized gambling under the ingratiating name of pari mutuels but the schools can say like the luckless Indian who named the Wisconsin town "Menomonee."

Then when I go in to pay my taxes here in Lincoln, a large placard shows that the big bite on the payer of direct taxes comes from the schools. True. But that is about all we get. The easy and painless indirect taxes have been gobbled up by the state and federal governments. We seldom think of it but over 50 per cent of the money for our state government comes from sales taxes. The public schools are made a hostage against the taxpayers' wrath while the big operators of state and nation carry off the really important money.

Corporations establish their business near cities but in country areas where school taxes are almost negligible. Their employees educate their children in the city while parents work in the plant. Our cement industry and natural gas installations are cases in point.

Our recently readjusted auto tax valuations hurt our school revenues since they reduced auto valuations nearly 60 per cent.

For years teachers have been advocating a sales tax. Looks now as if they are going to get it—get it as the chicken gets the ax. Get a chance to pay it. But who is naive enough to expect the school to share in the revenue?

The wise teacher who is awake to her own best interests and the interest of the public schools will vote against any sales tax proposal that does not guarantee a definite share of the sales tax revenues to the public schools. Sales taxes are in the interests of schools only if they are turned directly into the school funds. Teachers are more open to the effect of sales taxes than most people since they spend almost all their salary for personal needs. If they vote for a sales tax, they must expect the tax to raise their living expenses at least as much as the per cent of tax.

We are obviously going to have some important changes in our Nebraska tax setup. Judging by the past, the schools have about the same chance to escape being gypped in the deal as Little Red Riding Hood had when she entered into negotiations with the wolf.

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

Glimpse Of Nebraska

We asume most or all the members of the Nebraska Unicameral Legislature know that much of the discussions in the constitutional convention of 1920 were devoted to the field of taxation.

The final result was a very broad section—designed primarily to insure equality in the valuation of real and personal property. . . . Two or three men who sat in that convention have assured us that purposely it left to legislative action, decision on new levies, new forms of taxation or a broadened tax base. . . . The delegates to the constitutional convention of 1920 were smart. . . . Nebraskans should think twice before they spell out, step by step, what shall or what shall not be the tax program in Nebraska.

Best news of the week were the widespread soaking rains which covered central and eastern Nebraska counties. . . . They may have been the answer to the study of moisture conditions which the weatherman completed earlier in the week . . . They took care of a portion of the state which had been slighted for weeks . . . Nebraskans who know their state realize that the remaining days of April, the month of May and the first half of June will reveal in full fidelity the lines of the crop picture for 1954.

★

Lincoln's Jaycees used their heads in bestowing upon Mayor Clark Jeary their first award to be given annually to those public servants who make notable contributions to good government. As mayor Mr. Jeary started with one distinct advantage. He knows this community and its people. . . . It would be worse than oversight to overlook the fact that the mayor has been willing and in the position to devote more time and energy to the job than any man in recent years. . . . He has been on top of it every hour of the day and as a result has been able to initiate much that will bear good fruit in the future.

Would It Be Money Bags?

There is so much common sense in John Jirdon's proposal to reform the Nebraska primary system. In the event of a big field of candidates, which seems in the making in the Republican primary contest for United States senator, Mr. Jirdon suggests a second runoff or election if the winner fails to muster 51 per cent of the party vote.

That is the situation in several southern states.

In neighboring Iowa the battle goes to a party convention in the event the primary winner fails to receive 40 per cent of the total primary vote.

At first blush, Mr. Jirdon's suggestion, made in an address to the Rotary Club at Scottsbluff, is reasonable and sound. Yet in a practical sense obviously in many cases it would bar the door against any aspiring, public-spirited candidates with ambition to particpate actively in government from ever becoming a candidate. It costs money to run for office. That fact in itself would cause any thoughtful man to give earnest attention to entering a primary contest in which by reason of a multiplicity of candidates, he knew the chances of a second runoff campaign loomed impressively on the horizon.

It has happened frequently in this country that men born to the purple, so to speak, have become most dedicated, useful public servants. And it also has been demonstrated that men of most limited financial resources and humble beginnings have risen to the loftiest stature in the service they rendered their countrymen.

Naturally nothing in Mr. Jirdon's suggestion has any bearing upon the elections of 1954.

He was thinking in terms of the future.

Sane and solid as the suggestion may be, Nebraskans will want to reflect upon whether they want to saddle the primary system with the requirement that any candidate who files must be "well-heeled."

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

There may or may not be grounds for reading into a Republican primary contest in New Jersey Tuesday an amazing repudiation of McCarthyism in the attempted comeback bid of J. Parnell Thomas, former chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee. Mr. Thomas ran without support of the Republican party organization. He had grabbed McCarthy's coattails in his pre-primary campaign, endorsed McCarthy methods without reservation, and had insisted that a vote for Thomas signified approval of the junior Wisconsin senator.

★

Much as many of us would like to think that the issue of McCarthy had been joined squarely in this New Jersey House contest, the fact is that Thomas's record was enough to beat him. He had been convicted in 1949 of federal payroll padding, later pardoned by former President Truman. Whatever the voters may have thought of McCarthy, at this distance it is difficult to see where they could have swallowed Thomas simply because Thomas thinks McCarthy is a great guy. With the vote nearly complete, Widnall (the present Republican congressman in that district) had piled up a lead of 34,974 to 4,473. Mr. Thomas had taken the count by a margin of eight to one. If the New Jersey primary was to provide any clue to McMarthy's present standing in the country, obviously Thomas was not the man to furnish that test. Forgotten now, in the heyday of his congressional activities he was scarcely less adept than the master in grabbing headlines when it came to so-called "Red hunting".

Nor is there any reason to believe that the showdown between McCarthy and the Army will produce substantial results beyond sound and fury. There is a possibility, an outside chance, that something could happen, something unforeseen, in the proceedings scheduled to get under way in the national capital today, but if that is the case, it will be in spite of and not because of a deliberate design to come to grips with McCarthy.

★

As a result of the recall campaign initiated by a former McCarthy supporter in Wisconsin, LeRoy Gore, small-town newspaper editor, a lot of forgotten history is coming to public attention. Joe McCarthy, it appears, never has been the idol of Wisconsin voters many outside the state assume that he is. In 1946, the Milwaukee Journal pointed out, McCarthy polled only 47 per cent of the Republican primary vote to beat the late Sen. La Follette by a scant 5,396 votes. And Bob La Follette scarcely lifted a hand to win renomination. In 1952 McCarthy won by only 139,042 votes over his Democratic opponent, while the Republican candidate for secretary of state won by 505,300—Gov. Kohler, by 407,327—the Republican candidate for attorney general, by 431,275—the GOP state treasurer went in by 429,350—and Eisenhower carried the state by 357,569. McCarthy lost Milwaukee County by a vote of 260,626 to 163,003. He lost two other important, populous Wisconsin counties where he had major newspaper opposition. It could be that the President's decision to delete a pointed reference in praise of Gen. George C. Marshall, whom McCarthy had savagely attacked, from Mr. Eisenhower's Milwaukee speech in 1952 was the decisive factor in the re-election of the man who is the party's chief headache today.

Wisconsin's Measure Of The Man

And unless business in Washington compels a change in plans, Sen. McCarthy, apparently upon the invitation of Nebraska GOP State Chairman Dave Martin (now resigned and a candidate in the Republican primary for the United States Senate), will keynote the Nebraska Republican gathering at Fremont. Those who attend will not listen to a spokesman for any executive department in the Eisenhower administration. They perforce must turn an ear to Joe McCarthy. What the party needs, Rep. Harrison of the Third Nebraska District said at the Founders Day gathering, is many, many more McCarthys. On that day no one within Republican ranks stood up verbally to slap Mr. Harrison's ears. On the basis of the New Jersey returns, maybe some Nebraska Republicans may be encouraged to challenge McCarthy. As they say, that is on the lap of the gods.

Planning Is Thrifty

A great deal has been said about city planning. And to many people, that means a board of leading citizens laying out a community program for fulfillment some time in the distant future.

There is a great deal of that in planning. A town should envision its future form and take orderly steps toward it. Hit-and-miss development is costly and always unsatisfactory.

But proper planning also has a great deal to do with the cost of running the present community. Nebraska has its share of cities with excessive taxes. They are paying indemnities for absence of planning and poor timing of their investments.

A study of the past 12 months in the municipal bond market illustrates the point. The market lay in a trough that held interest rates down nationally to an average of less than 2½ per cent. In Nebraska some issues sold in the neighborhood of 1½ per cent. That is mighty cheap money. It was time for alert towns to move into the market. It meant expansion and rehabilitation programs at savings of thousands of dollars in interest rates.

Lincoln was a benificiary of that attractive market when it sold its water improvement bonds last summer. It has benefited, too, in its paving issues.

But Business Week now says that interest rates are moving back up. The public is showing less zeal for low rate municipals. Some towns took no cognizance of the market and issued no bonds. They were poor planners. The bargain ran out on them. And they are still unrehabilitated.

Really No Worry

Baseball managements always have to have something to worry about. From the spectators' point of view the Lincoln Chiefs got off to a glowing start. Popular Norm Brown pitched like a master. Lincoln fielding was sharp. The game ended in a dramatic 10-inning victory. The stands dripped with happy fans. But the management was in a funk. It found some confusion in seat reservations and is still brooding darkly over it. The management can brighten up. There can never be but one calamity in baseball. That is when there are not enough reservations to produce any confusion. And it looks like that situation is going to be a little hard to conjure this year.

Brownell Gives Joe Political Hot Foot

WASHINGTON — The inside story of how the Eisenhower administration indicted a Las Vegas publisher at the behest of Joe McCarthy is one of the most amazing Washington has seen in a long time.

The real fact is that McCarthy didn't actually want the publisher prosecuted. Certain Justice Department officials pushed the action despite him, possibly to embarrass him.

What happened was that Hank Greenspun, editor and publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, wrote a column on January 8 that "Joe has to come to a violent end . . . live by the sword and you die by the sword!" Greenspun continued. "Destroy people and they in turn must destroy you . . ."

McCarthy sent a copy of this column to Postmaster General Summerfield as a move to take second-class mailing privileges from the Las Vegas Sun. That apparently was as far as he wanted to go. Obviously if he had wanted criminal prosecution he would have sent the column direct to the Justice Department to which he has referred various other matters in the past.

JOE'S FRIEND

McCarthy happens to be chairman of the Senate Subcommittee for Post Office Appropriations. Once before he and Summerfield put their heads together to embarrass another McCarthy critic—Henry Luce of Time, Life and Fortune—when Summerfield is reported to have furnished McCarthy under-the-table figures on Luce's profits and McCarthy proceeded to build a fire against the magazines' second-class mailing privileges.

Furthermore, Summerfield has been one of Joe's consistent friends inside the cabinet and was the man who, during the election campaign, took Joe up the service elevator of the Pere Marquette Hotel in Peoria, Ill., to persuade Eisenhower to drop any praise of General Marshall from his Milwaukee speech.

However, when Attorney General Brownell heard about McCarthy's complaint to the post office, he decided to examine it carefully. And in the Greenspun column Justice Department officials found that McCarthy was described as "disreputable."

This was a charge Greenspun had been making about McCarthy for some time and getting away with it. McCarthy had not sued, though copies of the newspapers containing these charges had been mailed all over the United States.

Brownell, therefore, took the entire column and made it a matter of court record, with the result that it has now become privileged and has been quoted by other publications with complete immunity. In other words, Brownell did to McCarthy what McCarthy did to General Marshall and others when he launched attacks on them from the libel-proof safety of the Senate floor.

Brownell did this by indicting Greenspun on the ground that he incited attacks on McCarthy's life. But it's significant that he did not cite the perversion charge as grounds for criminal libel though he could have done so. Nor did he delete this part of the Greenspun column. He made it all a matter of court record.

Note — Greenspun came into the U.S. district court in Nevada the other day to face charges, but neither the U.S. attorney nor the U.S. marshal nor the judge seemed much interested. They finally told him to come back next fall when a new judge would be appointed. Judge Roger Foley said he wasn't going to try the case himself. They didn't even ask the publisher to post bail.

BENSON WON'T BUDGE

While public debate over rigid price supports continues on the Senate floor, here are some of the things that have been happening off the floor in Senate cloakrooms.

President Eisenhower has passed word through his close friend, Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, that he might agree to a one-year extension of rigid high price supports. This would be an acceptable compromise to Sen. Milt Young of North Dakota, Republican, and Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana, Democrat, the two leaders of the farm bloc who are pushing hardest for rigid price supports.

O, Those Old Spring Cleaning Time Blues

Contrary to reports circulated by malicious neighbors, this posture is not the result of searching the skies for flying saucers. It is the spring cleaning bend.

If anyone implies that spring cleaning is unnatural, he is right. You need only to look once at me for proof. I stand and walk upright until you get to my neck, but from there up I recline, as if in constant search for the Big Dipper. I am a perambulating right angle. When outdoors, I've go to keep the top of my head faced into the wind for fear of the breeze in my nostrils. It builds up pressure.

The reason is, I have been cleaning ceilings.

The experience has brought me to one important conclusion: Ceilings ought to be made detachable, so you can take them down and stand them up on their sides for cleaning. The only alternative seems to be standing on a stepladder, bending your back for a fly's-eye view, and scrubbing the grime off with a sponge. After four hours and three or four ceilings, the neck loses its resilience. There is no more spring in it. No matter where you want to look, you look up.

The greatest problem, as a result, presents itself at meal times. The last time I got down off the stepladder was for lunch. In order to see what there was to eat, I tried to induce my family to hold me out horizontally at table level, so my head would be vertical.

"No need for that," Mrs. F. said. "It's soup, so we'll just get a funnel and pour it down!"

"I'll betcha that we could straighten daddy's neck out," offered our daughter, "if we used a hammer and crowbar on his head."

Everybody but me was in favor of it. I told 'em I'd rather have the noodles signal for a left turn, going down.

Next to eating, my L-shaped upper extremity causes most inconvenience downtown. All I have to do is wander down the sidewalk, and within 15 minutes everyone in a radius of two miles is scanning the skies for attacking aircraft. The civil defense people ought to hire somebody like me to encourage volunteer plane spotters.

What worries me right now is sleeping. With a pillow under my head, I'll be a suspension arch. The only other way is to put it under the back of my neck, and rub noses with the headboard all night. I hope it isn't splintery.

No Hope Of Hearing Subduing McCarthy

WASHINGTON — A member of the Senate subcommittee which will investigate the McCarthy-Army dispute has received a pile of mail containing suggestions for the conduct of the hearings. He sends his correspondents a form reply as follows.

"I am grateful for your interest but I know of no way to set up rules which will insure that the bull in the China shop will break only the blue China.

This is one way of expressing what all the subcommittee members accept as fact. It is that a United States senator is a hard man to restrain at best, and when he is Joseph R. McCarthy who has never displayed any terminal facilities whatsoever it is next to impossible, rules or no rules.

In short, the senators expect McCarthy to carry on as before unless he should become persuaded that it was hurting him to do so.

Democratic strategy in the hearings will be directed at only two things:

1—Maintaining a goldfish bowl atmosphere in which the public will get to see, hear and read all about it. No matter how rough the going becomes, the minority will oppose executive sessions.

2—Giving both sides equal rights. In practice this means allowing the Army to take the same liberties McCarthy does.

On the eve of the public hearings there are only two new and unknown quantities in the picture. One is the picturesque subcommittee counsel from the Tennessee mountains, Ray H. Jenkins. The other is the firepower in McCarthy's last-minute diversionary attack on Assistant Defense Secretary H. Struve Hensel.

A big man physically and a big frog in his little puddle, Jenkins conceivably could become a popular voice of conscience in this inquiry in the manner of the late Sen. Tobey in the Kefauver crime committee hearings. Like Toby, Jenkins has a homespun personality which befits such a role. He has said that he told his folks he just came down here from the mountains to get the truth.

A somewhat more sophisticated senator did a double take on that one but now is almost ready to believe it. It is to the counsel's advantage also that he is a fresh face in this weary capital.

☆ ☆ ☆

Hensel, McCarthy's new target, held important Navy posts both in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. He left here in 1946 but returned as general counsel to the Defense Department in 1953 and was nominated by President Eisenhower Feb. 17 as assistant defense secretary.

The misfeasance charged against him by McCarthy is substantial and pivots on the grave accusation that he used his position to enrich himself in wartime.

Bermuda, Britain's oldest crown colony, is cradled in warm seas. The beaches are talcum soft and pink and the water turquoise. Cottages are lily-bordered. Hundreds and hundreds of fragrant waxy-white trumpets are opening to proclaim Easter time again. A world of enchantment in 21 square miles teaches a lesson in serenity. Here have we come to see and rejoice in the natural beauty that is Bermuda.

Mrs. Swingle

Discovered by Spanish seamen led by Juan de Bermadez is early 1500, he left the islands his name and said of it, "they haunt only of tempest, thunders and other fearful objects." In 1609 Sir George Somer's flagship, "Sea Venture," wallowing in a four-day storm was blown off course and landed here with his company of 150. The storm abated and left them with sun, sea and serenity.

The pink beaches are pulverized coral and there are 150 different native plants and cahow birds, a member of the petrel family, and over all there is a fragrance of aromatic cedar and flowers. Unfortunately like the cahow birds, the fragrant cedars of Bermuda are practically extinct. About the middle 1940's they were attacked by a blight that rapidly took its toll, and only gaunt, ghostlike skeletons of the once stately cedars now greet the visitors from every beach and hilltop. It is a sad, sad sight. True enough, there are hundreds of other trees, date palms over 200 years old, oleanders treelike in size and now in full bloom (white, pink and rosy-red) and grape trees, which are new to me, with very large, almost round shiny, dark green leaves.

Today, which is Good Friday, April 16, we shall motor to St. George, the oldest settlement in Bermuda, a city of 17th century charm 7½ miles from our hotel, to attend services at St. Peter's Church, the oldest church in the western hemisphere, older by many years than the church in St. Augustine, Fla., or the one in Santa Fe, N.M., which predates St. Augustine.

Early Friday morning April's waning moon will enter the movable, earthy and semi-fruitful sign, Capricorn. Attention, if weather permits, plant radishes, beets, carrots, and onions Friday or Saturday while the moon is in Capricorn. This is also the day to plant potatoes. You who planted on Good Friday will have luxuriant foliage and blooms but very few potatoes, come July. Sunday, April 25, just after 12 noon, the decreasing moon will enter the fixed, airy and barren sign, Aquarius, and next Tuesday at 6:21 p.m. it will enter the flexed, watery and fruitful sign, Pisces.

We quickly caught up with Lincoln happenings, but have not seen them since we docked Wednesday at 9 a.m. They are at the Reefs, about the same distance out of Hamilton as our hotel, only in opposite directions, which makes us perhaps 15 miles apart.

Our picture today is the passion flower of Bermuda. Mrs. Windle and I shall wear corsages of it today and for Easter.

Laws Of God

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is impossible to take religion out of our government. Our very jurisprudence is religion and the serious conditions we find in our country today are due to laws written without religious guidance.

When the Mayflower set sail to the new world, it carried a cargo of people who possessed two precious things—the Gospel and the common law. The common law became a basic part of our national existence. That common law was based on the commandments, statutes and judgments of the Holy Scriptures. The preamble of King Alfred's Dooms was thus: "The law that God spake to Moses, Christ said He came not to break or forbid but to keep." Then followed the Ten Commandments verbatim and after those other commandments and statutes of the Holy Writ. These laws are with us today governing our daily conduct, although somewhat modified by written law and here lies our great difficulties as the laws were written by men too often not learned in the moral, ethical and economic laws of God.

Here are a few of the many mistakes written into our law by our lawmakers: The land title can be alienated (this started as far back as the rule in Shelley's case), but we do not as yet permit the sale of land and are still transferring only certain rights ("Woe unto them that lay field to field." Read Leviticus 25 and 26 Chapt. for land laws). The monetary laws have been changed and we are in bondage for over 600 billions of dollars in public and private debt. Taxation has been changed from a 10 per cent levy on income (increase) over a three-year period to a levy on everything; premeditated homicide from "surely put to death" to a few years of incarceration in some instances; theft from absolute restitution plus a penalty to penal servitude; the statute of limitations reduced from seven to four years. These are only a few of the many mistakes made in rewritting the laws of God.

The great need is more of the great principles and precepts of Holy Writ in our government. Too long now have we had too little.

"Righteous keeping of divine law exalteth a nation. God's law is perfect." Men make imperfect laws. Watch our lawmakers try to settle the tax question and see how many really know that God's law permits only taxation of income, and then only 10 per cent.

Taxation Changes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The calling of the Legislature surely indicates a general overhaul of our state system of taxation. Our schools are hard pressed for financial support and they will be very fortunate to come through the tax revision hurly-burly even as well off as they are at present.

A half century ago schools were largely financed from licenses for saloons, prostitution and gambling. The fathers of the state explicitly provided in our constitution that all such revenues from vice and crime go to the school. Now the sturdy language of our constitution has been made to look like weasel words. Happily, licensed prostitution is abolished but the rich revenues from liquor selling by legal legerdemain have been completely diverted to other purposes. Millions go into legalized gambling under the ingratiating name of pari mutuels but the schools can say like the luckless Indian who named the Wisconsin town "Menomoinee."

Then when I go in to pay my taxes here in Lincoln, a large placard shows that the big bite on the payer of direct taxes comes from the schools. True. But that is about all we get. The easy and painless indirect taxes have been gobbled up by the state and federal governments. We seldom think of it but over 50 per cent of the money for our state government comes from sales taxes. The public schools are made a hostage against the taxpayers' wrath while the big operators of state and nation carry off the really important money.

Corporations establish their business near cities but in country areas where school taxes are almost negligible. Their employees educate their children in the city while parents work in the plant. Our cement industry and natural gas installations are cases in point.

Our recently readjusted auto tax valuations hurt our school revenues since they reduced auto valuations nearly 60 per cent.

For years teachers have been advocating a sales tax. Looks now as if they are going to get it—get it as the chicken gets the ax. Get a chance to pay it. But who is naive enough to expect the school to share in the revenue?

The wise teacher who is awake to her own best interests and the interest of the public schools will vote against any sales tax proposal that does not guarantee a definite share of the sales tax revenues to the public schools. Sales taxes are in the interests of schools only if they are turned directly into the school funds. Teachers are more open to the effect of sales taxes than most people since they spend almost all their salary for personal needs. If they vote for a sales tax, they must expect the tax to raise their living expenses at least as much as the per cent of tax.

We are obviously going to have some important changes in our Nebraska tax setup. Judging by the past, the schools have about the same chance to escape being gypped in the deal as Little Red Riding Hood had when she entered into negotiations with the wolf.

Truck-Train Crash Kills Fremonter

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Clifford Bucklin, 64, of Fremont was killed Wednesday in a truck-train crash about three miles west of Ames, Neb.

Co. Atty. Forrest Johnson and Sheriff Pelham McGee said that Bucklin had just turned off Highway 30 heading south when the eastbound Union Pacific City of San Francisco streamliner struck the rear of the truck cab.

Bucklin was thrown clear of the wreckage and parts of the truck were hurled more than 300 feet away.

Officials said Bucklin was a night watchman for the State Highway Department and had apparently been checking warning lights and flares on patching work being done in the Ames and North Bend areas.

The engineer of the train was John Bolin of Omaha and the conductor, Benjamin Ball of Council Bluffs.

The train proceeded to Fremont under its own power, but another power unit was sent out to continue the run after a 2½-hour delay.

Repairs were being made on the damaged unit.

Bucklin is survived by his widow and two daughters.

The death brought Nebraska's highway toll to 82, compared with 52 at this time last year.

Lynch Man Candidate

Donald E. Rohde of Lynch, Neb., filed with the secretary of state for nomination to the Legislature from the 28th District. He will oppose Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill, the incumbent.

Miller Heads Municipalities Utilities Section

George R. Miller of Beatrice has been elected chairman of the utilities section of the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Meeting jointly with the Nebraska section of the American Water Works Association, the utilities section also selected E. D. Bonine of Lyons as vice chairman and re-elected John W. Kruse of Lincoln secretary-treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were M. L. Sievers, North Platte, past chairman; Dave Hill, Hastings, and Lowell Edwards of Wahoo. Bert Gurney, Omaha, was re-elected representative of the associate membership group.

Jeary Speaks

The group also heard an address by Mayor Clark Jeary in which the utility men were urged to seek a greater degree of cooperation between their organizations and their various city councils. A utility manager, said Jeary, should always have his records in such shape that they show the effort was at least made to present all the facts of the operation to the proper city officials.

Past lack in Lincoln of cooperation between the City Council and the city's utility, said Jeary, has been the fault of both the Council and the utility managers. There are some things that should have been brought to the attention of the Council, he said. and some things the Council should have done to the facts.

New Utility Officers

Present Facts

Utility managers, he said, should be ready at all times to present the facts of their operation to the public. Many bond elections have been lost, he said, merely because the voters were not supplied with all the information they needed to make an intelligent decision.

The group also heard an address from J. L. Mangan, East St. Louis, Ill., on trends in power generation.

At the noon luncheon, Sievers was made an admiral in the Nebraska Navy. The joint three-day meeting will conlude Friday. afternoon.

The presentation of various awards will be made at the Thursday afternoon and evening sessions.

Phone Hike Asked

The Farmers Independent Telephone Co. of Red Cloud has asked the Railway Commission for a 25 per cent rate increase. The company refers to increased cost of operation.

2 Senators' Plea Brings 150 Replies

Sen. Tom Coffey said Wednesday that an appeal for expressions of opinion on the five proposals of Gov. Robert Crosby made by himself and Sen. Richard Marvel in a television program brought 150 replies. The response, he said covered an area from Alma to Grand Island and west to McCook.

Coffey said the poll showed 73 per cent favor exemption of household goods from taxation, 75 per cent favor a sales tax, 30 per cent favor an income tax and 78 per cent a homestead exemption.

At a meeting of 51 Furnas County school teachers in Oxford Coffey said he made a similar poll and found 83 per cent favoring exemption of household goods, 88 per cent for homestead exemption, 67 per cent for different classes of taxation, 53 per cent for appointment of assessors, 63 per cent for appointing a tax commission and the group about equally divided on taking the state out of the property tax field.

Miller Heads Municipalities Utilities Section

George R. Miller of Beatrice has been elected chairman of the utilities section of the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Meeting jointly with the Nebraska section of the American Water Works Association, the utilities section also selected E. D. Bonine of Lyons as vice chairman and re-elected John W. Kruse of Lincoln secretary-treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were M. L. Sievers, North Platte, past chairman; Dave Hill, Hastings, and Lowell Edwards of Wahoo. Bert Gurney, Omaha, was re-elected representative of the associate membership group.

Jeary Speaks

The group also heard an address by Mayor Clark Jeary in which the utility men were urged to seek a greater degree of cooperation between their organizations and their various city councils. A utility manager, said Jeary, should always have his records in such shape that they show the effort was at least made to present all the facts of the operation to the proper city officials.

Past lack in Lincoln of cooperation between the City Council and the city's utility, said Jeary, has been the fault of both the Council and the utility managers. There are some things that should have been brought to the attention of the Council, he said. and some things the Council should have done to the facts.

New Utility Officers

Present Facts

Utility managers, he said, should be ready at all times to present the facts of their operation to the public. Many bond elections have been lost, he said, merely because the voters were not supplied with all the information they needed to make an intelligent decision.

The group also heard an address from J. L. Mangan, East St. Louis, Ill., on trends in power generation.

At the noon luncheon, Sievers was made an admiral in the Nebraska Navy. The joint three-day meeting will conlude Friday. afternoon.

The presentation of various awards will be made at the Thursday afternoon and evening sessions.

Phone Hike Asked

The Farmers Independent Telephone Co. of Red Cloud has asked the Railway Commission for a 25 per cent rate increase. The company refers to increased cost of operation.

2 Senators' Plea Brings 150 Replies

Sen. Tom Coffey said Wednesday that an appeal for expressions of opinion on the five proposals of Gov. Robert Crosby made by himself and Sen. Richard Marvel in a television program brought 150 replies. The response, he said covered an area from Alma to Grand Island and west to McCook.

Coffey said the poll showed 73 per cent favor exemption of household goods from taxation, 75 per cent favor a sales tax, 30 per cent favor an income tax and 78 per cent a homestead exemption.

At a meeting of 51 Furnas County school teachers in Oxford Coffey said he made a similar poll and found 83 per cent favoring exemption of household goods, 88 per cent for homestead exemption, 67 per cent for different classes of taxation, 53 per cent for appointment of assessors, 63 per cent for appointing a tax commission and the group about equally divided on taking the state out of the property tax field.

Senate Battles Over Ag Props

'Revolt' Is Going On —Langer

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate plunged into a major fight over farm price supports despite pleas of GOP leaders and one Republican senator charged there is a "farm revolt" against the administration "all over the country."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) forced the issue by calling up an amendment to continue for two years the present rigid price supports on six basic farm commodities. This is the storm center of the farm issue.

President Eisenhower has asked for flexible price supports —a recommendation which Sen. Milton Young (R-ND) has warned may defeat GOP farm lawmakes in this fall's election.

Langer Hurls Charge

The farm revolt charge was made by Sen. William E. Langer (R-ND) who accused the administration of "not carrying out the farm program on which it was elected."

Ellender moved to tack his amendment onto a comparatively small bill to provide federal payments to wool growers as an incentive to production. Sen. Edward Thye (R-Minn) then served notice he will press for his amendment to prevent dairy price supports from falling more than five per cent in any one year.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland, Calif., took the floor to protest against cluttering up the wool bill with major amendments. He said "mixing butter with wool will be a mad mix, and they only achieve negative results."

Senate Agriculture Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt) appealed in vain to delay a showdown until his group can send a bill to the floor. The committee completed hearings on a measure and Aiken said he expects it will take three weeks before the bill will be in shape for the full Senate.

Breaks With President

Other major developments in the opening round of what promises to be a long battle included:

1. Langer broke with the President by not only coming out for rigid supports but their extension to many new products, including milk, butterfat, beef cattle, oats and barley.

2. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), a leading member of the farm bloc, said the vote on the price support issue will be "very close" with about three senators deciding the outcome. He accused the administration of putting on "terrific pressure" to keep GOP senators in line.

3. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson admitted in final testimony before the Senate Agriculture Committee that he does not know if the President would veto the bill if it calls for rigid supports.

County Eyes Detention Home Setup

The Lancaster County Detention Home and other related problems of juveniles will be discussed at a special meeting of the county's Board of Public Welfare called for that purpose.

Commissioner Chauncey Barney, chairman of the ex-officio welfare board, said the meeting will be held next Monday, 7:30 p.m., at the Courthouse.

Members of Lincoln's Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee headed by Dr. Frank A. Court, and Juvenile Court Judge Harry Ankeny will be invited to attend.

Growing problems arising out of the "split authority" over the detention home has pointed up the necessity for the meeting, Barney said.

Barney said complaints have been received by the board "from parents and lawyers concerning the visiting hours." Some have complained of "being refused admittance to the home by its operators—apparently on the authority of the juvenile probation officer."

Other complaints that a child has been in the home "too long" have been received, he said. "If there's been any abuse, this board has no way of knowing," he said. "The only records are kept by the probation officer."

On Barney's motion, the board approved resolutions:

1. Requesting the Juvenile Court and juvenile probation officer to furnish a copy of rules as to policy on visitors, including persons authorized to visit, person or persons in charge of authorizing visits, times of visitation and other established rules.

2. Directing the home's operators to furnish a monthly report to the board showing names of children confined, authority ordering confinement, reason for confinement, whether the child has been before the Juvenile Court, and the date of confinement.

Spring Silhouette Is Trim and Slim

Soft as a dress and without bulk, Monte-Sano and Pruzan's spring, 1954, "midrinette suit" of blond topaz Italian silk is typical of this season's smart fashions.

The trim, slender styles that show the real "you," call for a "you" that's trim and sleek. And that calls for tasty, but diet-wise, Roman Meal Bread.

Roman Meal is nourishing and so delicious you'll never think of it as a low-calorie bread. Yet it has a "staying" quality that helps you avoid snacking. Try it today — Roman Meal, the different dark bread.

Heavy Rains In East, South Benefit State Crops

Tekamah's Downpour 3.12 Inch

Eastern and southern sections of Nebraska are reaping the benefits of Wednesday's rains but the dry western, southwestern and north central sections were again ignored.

The rains will do a lot of good for Nebraska's crop outlook, according to A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician.

The only dark side to the picture, Anderson said, was that the rains didn't cover enough of the state.

Aids Pastures

Pastures, the alfalfa crop and recently-seeded oats fields were all in need of the moisture, the crop expert said. Prior to the rains, the top soil was dry although the sub-soil supply of moisture is adequate in most areas.

The rains will put the corn ground in much better shape, Anderson added.

Latest moisture reports throughout Nebraska as a result of Wednesday's rains, led by 3.12 inches at Tekamah, listed by the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company, the U. S. Weather Bureau and The Star's own news service included the following:

In the wake of the rains the Weather Bureau's river forecasting station at Topeka, Kas., said the Big Blue River would rise to about two-thirds of bankful at Crete by Saturday. That would be 17 inches over the Crete Mill dam.

The Little Blue River will rise to about two-thirds of bankful at Endicott, Neb., by Thursday, the forecasters said.

Only minor rises were expected downstream from Crete and Endicott.

Some Hail

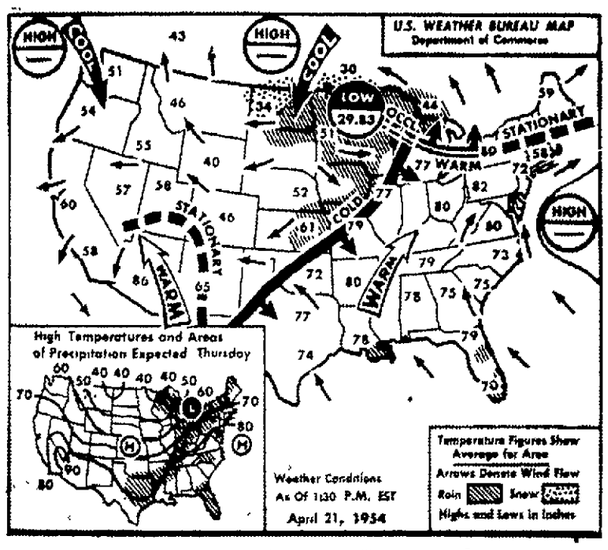
Besides the heavy downpours there were strong winds, electrical displays and some hail at many points. Omaha had wind in gusts to 63 miles an hour.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., and long distance lines were knocked out from Hastings to Havard and Sutton and from York to Henderson and Waco.

There were also communications troubles in the Grand Island and Norfolk areas.

The Kearney area where moisture has been scarce since the first of the year, got a good soaking with most of the rougher elements of the storm lacking.

Kearney itself reported .66 of an inch with greater amounts falling at communities nearby. Though a little hail was reported in that area, only at Newark was it believed to have fallen in damaging amounts.



Fair Weather Will Prevail

Showers and scattered thunderstorms are due Thursday from northern New England states southwestward to Ohio and Tennessee valleys and then on to eastern Texas. Scattered showers and thunderstorms will fall in upper and lower Lakes region, Florida and mountainous sections of North Carolina. Light snow is scheduled for western Montana. Fair weather will prevail elsewhere in U. S. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Ceremonies To Mark Arbor Day In State

Nebraska City Will Observe Event Sunday

Arbor Day, the holiday which Nebraska can truly call her own, will be celebrated throughout the state Thursday.

However, the biggest celebration scheduled at Nebraska City, the home of Arbor Day, has been delayed until Sunday so the general public may attend the "dress-up" affair.

Thursday will mark the 80th anniversary of the tree-planting day, celebrated annually on the birthday of its founder, the late J Sterling Morton of Nebraska City.

Costumed Nebraska Citians, observing their city's centennial, will gather at 2 p.m. Sunday at Arbor Lodge State Park for their celebration.

Anderson to Speak

Victor E. Anderson, former mayor of Lincoln, will make the principal address from the east portico of the J. Sterling Morton mansion.

The lectern to be used by speakers will be a copy of a lectern used in the First Methodist Church of Nebraska City in 1855

Others participating in the program will include the Nebraska City High School Choir and the Boys Scouts

At the close of the program a tree will be planted in the State Park grounds and dedicated to the city's 100th birthday.

The Women's Division of the Nebraska City Chamber of Commerce will provide guides in the Mansion during the day.

Suggested in '72

Arbor Day was first suggested by Morton on Jan. 4, 1872, at a meeting of the Nebraska Board of Agriculture. A million trees were planted in the state on the first Arbor Day.

The first Arbor Day proclamation was made by Gov Robert Furnas in which he set aside the third Wednesday of April, 1874, for the holiday.

April 22 was later established as the date for the annual celebration by the Nebraska Legislature

Among the celebrations scheduled for Lincoln Thursday will be the planting of the first tree beginning the landscape program for the new Whitehall School at the Nebraska Home for Children

The tree will be dedicated to Mrs. Katherine Martin, a member of the Board of Control, at the 2 30 p m. ceremony.

Spear 'Would Accept' GOP Post If Named

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — W. W. Spear, Fremont attorney and Dodge County Republican chairman Wednesday became the first avowed candidate for the state GOP chairmanship.

The job opened up last week when David T. Martin of Kearney resigned and filed for the Republican nomination as U.S. Senator.

Spear's name has figured in the speculation from the outset, as a possible successor to Martin, but Wednesday's announcement made it affirmative, when he said he would accept the job if elected. The GOP central committee meets May 10 in Lincoln

Native Of Genoa

Spear came to Fremont in March, 1951 and is a partner in the law firm of Spear and Lamme. A native of Genoa, Neb., he was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1933 and from the George Washington Law School in 1936.

He left the service as an Air Force major in 1946 and joined the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., as an attorney, coming to Fremont in 1951.

One brother, Wallace E Spear is trust officer of the First National Bank of Omaha Another is John M. Spear, president of the Fort Kearney National Bank of Kearney

In 1953 Spear was mentioned as a possible appointee to the Federal Communications Commission, but he said he was not interested.

Store Damaged By Fire May Be Complete Loss

OMAHA (AP)—Fire Department investigators said the two-thirds of the State Furniture Co. store which remained standing in downtown Omaha Wednesday may have been damaged beyond repair in a fire late Tuesday.

The other third collapsed as firemen fought the blaze.

Floors and ceilings of the 75-year-old structures still standing sagged afer undergoing the onslaught of tons of water

The south wall of the middle building still standing "doesn't look good," Assistant Chief Earl A. Graham said.

Neither fire officials nor officers of the furniture company would attempt to guess the dollar loss.

Cause of the fire, in which a civilian and 13 firemen were injured, one seriously, was undetermined Wednesday afternoon.

State's Crime Mark In 1953 Tops '52 Total

Nebraska's crime record, while showing an improvement in five out of eight major categories, still took a turn for the worse last year by virtue of increases in the other three, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported.

The three, robbery, larceny-theft and auto theft, offset the decreases heavily enough to boost the crime total above that of 1952.

The FBI reported that this was in line with the national picture, which recorded an all-time crime high in 1953.

Using reports from 24 cities, the FBI listed 7,546 crimes in Nebraska in 1953 compared to 7,440 in 1952

The report showed the following state comparison (the 1953 total given first): murder and non-negligent manslaughter, nine to 10; rape, 12 to 16; robbery, 120 to 97; aggravated assault, 106 to 151; burglary and breaking and entering, 1,320 to 1,385; larceny-theft, 5,080 to 4,911; and auto theft, 889 to 857

The FBI's report said that rural crimes increased by 9 6 per cent in 1953 to 4.5 per cent for city crimes.

Anderson Sees Special Session As A 'Sideshow'

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—Victor Anderson of Lincoln, GOP candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, predicted here that the present legislative special session "will be a sideshow."

Anderson also said that he has a plan in mind to cope with the state tax problems but it is not ready to reveal it.

The former Lincoln mayor commented that the rivalry between state Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Gov. Robert Crosby—both candidates for the GOP United States Senate nomination—would turn the session into a slambang affair.

Anderson predicted that the question of a sales tax will be included on the ballot this fall.

"I think the legislators will put it on the ballot whether they think it has a chance or not," he said.

Though he did not elaborate on his tax solution, he indicated that it would be in the nature of a commission much like the one formed to construct the state capitol.

"All segments of the public were represented on that commission and they had full confidence of the people," he said.

Anderson, a Havelock banker, attended the group 6 meeting of the Nebraska Bankers Association here.

He also met local businessmen and Republican leaders during the day.

Labor, Rail Lobbyists First To File For Meet

Lobbyists for railroad and labor groups were the first to file in connection with the special session of the Nebraska Legislature.

Initial filings were by L. K. Emry, Lincoln, representing railroad shop crafts; O. D. Menefee, Fairbury, railroad brotherhood, and Gordon C. Preble, State Federation of Labor.

Ceremonies To Mark Arbor Day In State

Nebraska City Will Observe Event Sunday

Arbor Day, the holiday which Nebraska can truly call her own, will be celebrated throughout the state Thursday.

However, the biggest celebration scheduled at Nebraska City, the home of Arbor Day, has been delayed until Sunday so the general public may attend the "dress-up" affair.

Thursday will mark the 80th anniversary of the tree-planting day, celebrated annually on the birthday of its founder, the late J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska City.

Costumed Nebraska Citians, observing their city's centennial, will gather at 2 p.m. Sunday at Arbor Lodge State Park for their celebration.

Anderson to Speak

Victor E. Anderson, former mayor of Lincoln, will make the principal address from the east portico of the J. Sterling Morton mansion.

The lectern to be used by speakers will be a copy of a lectern used in the First Methodist Church of Nebraska City in 1855.

Others participating in the program will include the Nebraska City High School Choir and the Boys Scouts.

At the close of the program a tree will be planted in the State Park grounds and dedicated to the city's 100th birthday.

The Women's Division of the Nebraska City Chamber of Commerce will provide guides in the Mansion during the day.

Suggested in '72

Arbor Day was first suggested by Morton on Jan. 4, 1872, at a meeting of the Nebraska Board of Agriculture. A million trees were planted in the state on the first Arbor Day.

The first Arbor Day proclamation was made by Gov. Robert Furnas in which he set aside the third Wednesday of April, 1874, for the holiday.

April 22 was later established as the date for the annual celebration by the Nebraska Legislature.

Among the celebrations scheduled for Lincoln Thursday will be the planting of the first tree beginning the landscape program for the new Whitehall School at the Nebraska Home for Children.

The tree will be dedicated to Mrs. Katherine Martin, a member of the Board of Control, at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

Lincoln Star Special

WORMS, Neb.—Funeral services were held at the Lutheran Church here for John Simonson, 72. A native of Merrick County, he died in a hospital in Emmett, Idaho.

In his early life he worked for the Union Pacific Railroad in Grand Island, Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah. Later he was employed by a mining company in Bingham Canyon, Utah, from 1911 until his retirement in 1948.

Surviving are five brothers, Simon, Onen and Thorval, all of St. Libory, Neb., and Iafe and Andrew of Palmer; and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Seim of Chapman and Mrs. Emma Helzer of Letha, Idaho.

Trial In Omaha Ammo Fatality Case Under Way

OMAHA (AP) — The trial of Lawrence Davis, 29, of Omaha on a motor vehicle homicide charge began in District Court here Wednesday. The charge grew out of the Oct. 9 crash of an ammunition truck driven by Davis and a car, three occupants of which were killed.

A jury of nine women and three men was selected to hear the case.

Spear 'Would Accept' GOP Post If Named

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — W. W. Spear, Fremont attorney and Dodge County Republican chairman Wednesday became the first avowed candidate for the state GOP chairmanship.

The job opened up last week when David T. Martin of Kearney resigned and filed for the Republican nomination as U.S. Senator.

Spear's name has figured in the speculation from the outset, as a possible successor to Martin, but Wednesday's announcement made it affirmative, when he said he would accept the job if elected. The GOP central committee meets May 10 in Lincoln.

Native Of Genoa

Spear came to Fremont in March, 1951 and is a partner in the law firm of Spear and Lamme. A native of Genoa, Neb., he was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1933 and from the George Washington Law School in 1936.

He served with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., in Washington and the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Co., and later became assistant corporation counsel for the city of New York, entering the Army in 1942. He left the service as an Air Force major in 1946 and joined the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., as an attorney, coming to Fremont in 1951.

One brother, Wallace E. Spear is trust officer of the First National Bank of Omaha. Another is John M. Spear, president of the Fort Kearney National Bank of Kearney.

In 1953 Spear was mentioned as a possible appointee to the Federal Communications Commission, but he said he was not interested.

Dedication Of New $30,000 Hospital Slated

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

MINDEN, Neb.—A $33,000 investment in better medical care for residents of Kearney County will be ready for use in a few days.

Plans have been completed for dedication of the new Kearney County Community Hospital here next Sunday, April 25. State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings will be the principal speaker. Dr. R. Nichol, chairman of the program committee, said State Department of Health and Hospital Division officials also are expected to attend.

The hospital, a one-story structure of modern design, will have a capacity of 26 beds and eight bassinets. Space will also be available for six extra beds in case of emergency. Construction was financed by a county bond issue with matching funds provided by the federal government.

Replaces Old Hospital

Replaced by the new structure will be the old county hospital in Minden which has served as the only hospital in the county. The new hospital stands on a large lot in southeast Minden.

Features of the hospital include individual outside air intakes for the nursery, X-ray room and delivery suites. The structure is of smooth-faced red brick with light stone trim.

Supervisors of the hospital are Mr. and Mrs. John Bucknell. Members of the Hospital Board of Trustees are Charles Borgaard, Earnest Christen and Earl Freeland. The Minden Chamber of Commerce, Hospital Board and County Board are in charge of the dedication plans. The ceremony will begin at 2:30 p.m. with an open house inspection of the new building to follow.

Valentine Rites For Earl Hodges

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services for Earl E. Hodges, 64, Cherry County clerk the past 23 years, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. here.

Burial will be at Nelson, Neb., on Friday.

Hodges died at a Valentine hospital of cancer.

Survivors include his widow.

Store Damaged By Fire May Be Complete Loss

OMAHA (AP)—Fire Department investigators said the two-thirds of the State Furniture Co. store which remained standing in downtown Omaha Wednesday may have been damaged beyond repair in a fire late Tuesday.

The other third collapsed as firemen fought the blaze.

Floors and ceilings of the 75-year-old structures still standing sagged afer undergoing the onslaught of tons of water.

The south wall of the middle building still standing "doesn't look good," Assistant Chief Earl A. Graham said.

Neither fire officials nor officers of the furniture company would attempt to guess the dollar loss.

Cause of the fire, in which a civilian and 13 firemen were injured, one seriously, was undetermined Wednesday afternoon.

State's Crime Mark In 1953 Tops '52 Total

Nebraska's crime record, while showing an imporevment in five out of eight major categories, still took a turn for the worse last year by virtue of increases in the other three, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported.

The three, robbery, larceny-theft and auto theft, offset the decreases heavily enough to boost the crime total above that of 1952.

The FBI reported that this was in line with the national picture, which recorded an all-time crime high in 1953.

Using reports from 24 cities, the FBI listed 7,546 crimes in Nebraska in 1953 compared to 7,440 in 1952.

The FBI's report said that rural crimes increased by 9.6 per cent in 1953 to 4.5 per cent for city crimes.

THE STAR WELCOMES:

Mr. and Mrs. Siegfred W. Bloebaum and their three boys, Calvin, four years old; David, two and a half; and Roy, eight months old, who are new residents in Lincoln at 2121 No. 28th.

Mr. Bloebaum is a native of Columbus and his wife grew up in Gresham, but they lived briefly in Sioux City, Ia., before deciding to make Lincoln their home.

From Anchorage, Alaska come the Richard M. Williford family—including the technical sergeant, Mrs. Williford, seven year old Steve, and Glenn, five years old. Sgt. Williford is with the air police squadron at the Lincoln Air Force Base, and he and his family are delighted to leave the land of the Midnight Sun, eggs costing $1.25 a dozen and milk 40 cents a quart.

Both Sgt. and Mrs. Williford are from San Diego, Calif. A family hobby is an elaborate model-train set which Sgt. Williford and the boys devour after their "working day" is through.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilson, who now are residing at 6703 Holdrege are from Oklahoma City. Mr Gilson is a cost accountant here and they plan to be permanent residents.

The Gilsons have two sons, Mayo, 11 years old, a rabid baseball fan; and 18-month-old Gary. Mr. Gilson is a graduate of Washington University in his home town of St. Louis and his wife attended the junior college in her native city of Joplin, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Paben, who have moved from Florence, Ariz., just a hundred miles north of the Mexican border, to equally-tropical Lincoln, where they have bought a home at 2301 So. 38th.

Although the Pabens have seven children, they are all grown up and away from home, except 6-year-old Diana, who will enter the first grade at Sheridan School next autumn. However, two of the Pabens' sons, Delbert and Glenn and their wives reside in Lincoln.

Mr. Paben's work in Lincoln is the same as he had in Arizona, that of operating the state prison cannery.

May we extend the welcome mat a few feet farther to include Mr. and Mrs. Keith D. Beilby and their youngsters, Diane, a first grader at Prescott; George, 3 years old, and David, 11 months old, who are residing at 1409 So. 20th. Mr. Beilby and his family are former residents of Yankton S. D., and he will apply the civil engineering degree earned at the South Dakota School of Mines as Nebraska Hospital Construction and Inspection Engineer.

A former tennis star, Mr. Beilby can find time now only for a bit o' fishing and gardening but either or both will have to be postponed until the dreamed-of rambling ranch type home becomes a reality in Lincoln.

THIS morning Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Hillier are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Francine, to Robert D. Kubitschek, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Kubitschek.

The wedding is planned for early autumn.

Miss Hillier attended Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Mr. Kubitschek attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

MISS FRANCINE HILLIER

OF interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rees of Waverly of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Marlene, to Theodore J. Forke, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Forke.

The wedding will take place in August.

Miss Rees is attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and of Pi Lambda Theta.

Mr. Forke is a former student at the University and now is stationed with the armed forces at Ft. Benning, Ga.

MISS MARLENE REES

Alumnae Entertain

Members of the Omaha Alumnae Club of Kappa Kappa Gamma were the guests Tuesday of the Lincoln Alumnae at the home of Mrs. Don Shurtleff. The out of town guests also included Mrs. George Reeves of Norfolk, and Mrs. Kay Southwick of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Coming from Omaha were Mrs. Howard Agee, Mrs. Wells King, Mrs. W. P. Jensen, Mrs. Earl Hawkins, Mrs. Dean Hokanson, Mrs. Gale Davis, Mrs. B. P. Egan, Mrs. Virgil Haggert, Mrs. Richard Newcomer, Mrs. Coburn Tomson, Mrs. Ernest Whitlock and Mrs. F. L. Catlin, president of the Omaha club.

BSP Chapter Installation

The members of Xi chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met at the home of Mrs. Marvin Smith, Monday evening, and installed the following new officers: Mrs. Jack Dolen, president; Mrs. Marvin Smith, vice president; Miss Virginia Dolan, recording secretary; Mrs. Guy Vehrs, corresponding secretary; and Miss Mariam Collins, treasurer.

Miss Jean Bettenhausen and Mrs. Earl Heller were named to represent the chapter at the state convention, to be held April 24 and 25 at North Platte, and plans were made for attending the sorority's founders day banquet, April 28, at the Cornhusker Hotel.

The chapter will celebrate Exemplar Day with members of Xi Beta and Xi Upsilon chapters at a dinner to be held May 14, at the Colonial Cup.

The program, "The Value of Money," was given by Mrs. Anne Boyd, and a guest for the evening was Miss Eileen Motz. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Smith and Miss Martha Krenk.

THE STAR WELCOMES:

Mr. and Mrs. Siegfred W. Bloebaum and their three boys, Calvin, four years old; David, two and a half; and Roy, eight months old, who are new residents in Lincoln at 2121 No. 28th.

Mr. Bloebaum is a native of Columbus and his wife grew up in Gresham, but they lived briefly in Sioux City, Ia., before deciding to make Lincoln their home.

From Anchorage, Alaska come the Richard M. Williford family—including the technical sergeant, Mrs. Williford, seven year old Steve, and Glenn, five years old. Sgt. Williford is with the air police squadron at the Lincoln Air Force Base, and he and his family are delighted to leave the land of the Midnight Sun, eggs costing $1.25 a dozen and milk 40 cents a quart.

Both Sgt. and Mrs. Williford are from San Diego, Calif. A family hobby is an elaborate model-train set which Sgt. Williford and the boys devour after their "working day" is through.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilson, who now are residing at 6703 Holdrege are from Oklahoma City. Mr Gilson is a cost accountant here and they plan to be permanent residents.

The Gilsons have two sons, Mayo, 11 years old, a rabid baseball fan; and 18-month-old Gary. Mr. Gilson is a graduate of Washington University in his home town of St. Louis and his wife attended the junior college in her native city of Joplin, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Paben, who have moved from Florence, Ariz., just a hundred miles north of the Mexican border, to equally-tropical Lincoln, where they have bought a home at 2301 So. 38th.

Although the Pabens have seven children, they are all grown up and away from home, except 6-year-old Diana, who will enter the first grade at Sheridan School next autumn. However, two of the Pabens' sons, Delbert and Glenn and their wives reside in Lincoln.

Mr. Paben's work in Lincoln is the same as he had in Arizona, that of operating the state prison cannery.

May we extend the welcome mat a few feet farther to include Mr. and Mrs. Keith D. Beilby and their youngsters, Diane, a first grader at Prescott; George, 3 years old, and David, 11 months old, who are residing at 1409 So. 20th. Mr. Beilby and his family are former residents of Yankton, S. D., and he will apply the civil engineering degree earned at the South Dakota School of Mines as Nebraska Hospital Construction and Inspection Engineer.

A former tennis star, Mr. Beilby can find time now only for a bit o' fishing and gardening but either or both will have to be postponed until the dreamed-of rambling ranch type home becomes a reality in Lincoln.

THIS morning Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Hillier are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Francine, to Robert D. Kubitschek, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Kubitschek.

The wedding is planned for early autumn.

Miss Hillier attended Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Mr. Kubitschek attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

MISS FRANCINE HILLIER

OF interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rees of Waverly of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Marlene, to Theodore J. Forke, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Forke.

The wedding will take place in August.

Miss Rees is attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and of Pi Lambda Theta.

Mr. Forke is a former student at the University and now is stationed with the armed forces at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Red China Attacks U.S. Policy

TOKYO (Thursday) (AP) — Communist China savagely attacked U. S. policy on Indo-China and declared "we certainly will not take it lying down" if "armed aggression is directed against us."

Peoples Daily, official organ of the Red regime, asserted Red China now was one of "the five big powers" with a "soaring international prestige and position."

"The rulers of the United States, however, are trying to blind themselves to the existence and might of the Peoples Republic of China," said a Peiping broadcast version of the editorial heard here.

Peoples Daily was discussing the Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China, which opens next Monday. The broadcast obviously was intended as a major pronouncement just before the sessions open.

The Daily's editorial ignored Secretary of State Dulles' statement that Red China was not going to Geneva as a Big Five power but to answer before the world for aggression in Korea.

Instead, it referred to Geneva as a "conference between the five big powers—the Soviet Union, the United States, France, Britain and the Peoples Republic of China."

"The paramount significance of the Geneva conference," said Peoples Daily, "lies in the fact that it makes it possible for all the states participating in the conference, and particularly the major powers which have special responsibility for safeguarding world peace, to negotiate on an equal footing based on mutual respect an agreement founded on the vital interests of all countries in Asia and the common interests of world peace."

Peiping spelled out what it would ask for a Korean settlement — "the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea so that the Koreans can work for the reunification of their own country by peaceful means."

Judge Kokjer Will Sit In At NPPS Hearing

The State Supreme Court Wednesday named Judge H. Emerson Kokjer of Wahoo to sit in place of Judge Robert H. Flory at Columbus at the hearing of the Custer County and three other REA districts' action to block the sale of the Nebraska Public Power System's $17,600,000 bond issue for steam generating plant construction at Beatrice.

Judge Flory vacated the bench because of his former connection as counsel for the Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District, defendant in the action in whose name the bonds were issued.

Following the sale of the 4 per cent bonds at two dollars off par April 7 the protesting districts filed for a declaratory judgment, naming NPPS, the Loup River District, several municipalities and non-plaintiff REA's as defendants.

The petitioners asserted the sale brought the interest net to 4.06 per cent claiming that to be in excess of the 4 per cent maximum set by NPPS.

They also claimed that a more favorable credit rating for the Consumers Public Power District, which also has projected plans for a southeast Nebraska steam generating plant, would provide Nebraska REA's and other public power wholesale purchasers with lower cost power.

The plaintiffs have asked for a determination of whether NPPS have a right to incur the cost of financing its bond issue despite lack of approval by the NPPS budget board and whether the Consumers Public Power District must share in the expense of the plant.

Oklahoma Next For Huskers

Hofmaier May Hurl First Game Friday

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Sixteen University of Nebraska baseball players head for Oklahoma today for a two-game series with the defending Big Seven Conference champions in a series which can make or break either club.

In the University of Oklahoma Sooners Tony Sharpe and his conference leading Huskers (2-0) are challenging a baseball organization which has won the Big Seven twice in the last three years under Coach Jack Baer.

Baer still runs the baseball show at Norman and this spring is running a club which lost only two players from the 1953 kings who split two games with Nebraska and beat the Huskers in a close pennant race.

Sharpe takes the Huskers into a ball park similar to the Lincoln diamond. The fences stand at 350-feet in right and left and at 375 in center.

He declined to finger a pitcher for either game but the possibility that Lefty Fran Hofmaier will throw the opener is strong.

Dick Geier is the other lefthander who will make the trip while right-handers available are Pat Mallette, Charley Wright, Jerry Shaw and Ray Novak.

Novak, the leading conference pitcher last year, was unimpressive against Tulsa on the southern trip but reported he felt fine in a workout after the Tuesday game against Kansas.

Nebraska plays the Sooners Friday and Saturday afternoon and moves on to Manhattan, Kan., Sunday for Monday and Tuesday games against Kansas State in Griffith Stadium, a park with a close right field which favors left handed hitters.

The Huskers can play four lefties in Jim Cederdahl, Pat Mallette, Dierkes Rolston and Virg Gottsch.

The roster:

Catchers—Bob Lohrberg and Murray Backhaus.
Infielders—Norman Coufal, Virgil Gottsch, Dierkes Rolston, Ray Novak, Fred Secor.
Outfielders—Bill Giles, Jim Cederdahl, Don Becker, Pat Mallette, Dan Brown.
Pitchers—Fran Hofmaier, Dick Geier, Jerry Shaw, Charley Wright.

Hearing Set For New Micro Race Location

A public hearing on the licensing of Micro Midgets Racing Association at a proposed location on the State Fairgrounds has been set for April 27 by the Lancaster County Commissioners.

The Association hopes to relocate its race track from a West Van Dorn site to a leased tract of about 20 acres in the southwest corner of the Fairgrounds.

Safety First As Bauer Returns To Third

Hank Bauer (9), New York Yankee outfielder, dives back to third base after being hung up on the way home when teammate Yogi Berra grounded to Billy Goodman, Red Sox second baseman, in the third inning at Yankee Stadium Wednesday. George Kell, Boston third baseman, reaches for the throw from Catcher Sammy White, who had fielded Goodman's bad throw to the plate. The Yankees won, 5-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Staley Goes Route, Halts Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gerry Staley Wednesday night became the first St. Louis Cardinal pitcher to pitch a complete game this season as he hurled the Cards to a 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds played the game under protest from the third inning, however. Manager Birdie Tebbetts based his protest on a claim that Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards had ignored warnings of the umpires to quit getting out of the coaching box.

The ruckus over Stanky's antics in the coaching box led to his ouster from the game.

Rip Repulski's home run on the second pitch of the ball game gave the Cards a lead they never relinquished but it took a three-run outburst in the sixth to assure the Redbird victory.

Giants Nipped

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their winning run on an error in the eighth inning as they edged the New York Giants, 5-4. Outfielder Frank Thomas got the Pirates off to a running start as he belted a three-run homer in the first inning off starter Larry Jansen.

The win was credited to Max Surkont, his first since joining the Pirates in a midwinter trade with the Milwaukee Braves. He lost his first start of the year.

Are you tired of pitchers holding up the game before their turn at bat? . . . Well, the current Western League rules have a remedy . . . It reads like this: "The pitcher must be in the batter's circle just prior to his turn at bat, and will not be allowed to remain in the dugout until his turn comes . . . In the past, the hurler has been allowed to loaf on the bench during the course of the No. 8 batter's turn . . . Then would come a slow process of removing his jacket, a big search for his proper bat and a slow march to the plate . . . If the pitcher is left on base when his side is retired, the Western rules instruct a batboy or a coach to get his jacket so he can go directly to the mound . . . Bravo!

Lt. Walt Spellman, one of the key links of the block-busting Cornhusker line of 1950, now flying cargo planes into Indo-China . . . Walt played football in Japan last fall for an Army team . . . If there was an unsung hero in the Reynolds-dominated Huskers of that year, it would have to be Spellman . . . Good flying, fella.

Doby's Tap Helps Ruin No-Hitter

Turley Misses Peak Game By Two Outs

BALTIMORE (AP)—A no-hitter and the ball game blew up in Bob Turley's face with only two outs to go when Larry Doby homered behind Al Rosen's single Wednesday for a 2-1 Cleveland Indian victory over the Baltimore Orioles before 43,383 shocked fans.

The 23-year-old speedball artist had the Indians at his mercy as he fanned Dave Pope, a pinchhitter, to start the ninth. It was the 14th strikeout for the youngster who had the first crowd to see a major league night baseball game in Baltimore roaring for a no-hitter since the seventh inning.

Rosen, last year's American League most valuable player, broke the spell at that point by lining a single just over the infield between third and short for the first hit off the big blond pitcher.

Doby, who twice had been the victim of Turley's third strikes, looked at one ball and lined the next pitch into the right field stands about 360 feet away.

It was a rude jolt to Turley who had struck out every regular on the Indians. In the first and fourth he fanned three. With the bases loaded and one out in the fourth, he fanned Dave Philley and George Strickland to slam the door with a resounding bang.

Senators Win, 13-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Porterfield's three-hit pitching and Washington's easy come batting gave the Senators a 13-1 win over the Philadelphia Athletics Wednesday night.

Eddie Yost was hit by a pitch. Jim Busby singled and, after Mickey Vernon forced Busby, Roy Sievers hit a long fly that scored Yost after the catch. Clyde Vollmer's homer brought Vernon home ahead of him.

Ace Righthander Wins Second, Hits Home Run

From Press Dispatches

DES MOINES —Norm Brown, the Western League's biggest winner, pitched and batted Lincoln to a 4-2 victory over the Des Moines Bruins Wednesday night and in doing so shoved the Chiefs into a first-place tie with Pueblo.

Pueblo lost a 13-10 decision to Denver Wednesday night. Both the Dodgers and the Chiefs have 4-1 records.

Brown scattered eight hits to notch his second victory and second complete game in two starts. He also smashed a home run against the Bruins.

Brown homered with nobody on in the third inning. Then Red McQuillen added another four-bagger after Andy Anderson's single in the sixth for a 3-0 Lincoln lead.

Norm Brown

Brown had a two-hit shutout for six innings before loading the bases in the seventh, but escaped then without damage. He yielded two runs in the eighth on Bill Beery's bunt, a double by Bob Speake and a single by Jim Reiter.

Lincoln got its final run in the ninth on three walks and a sacrifice fly by John Paul Jones.

Shortstop Carlos Santiago and Brown collected four of Lincoln's seven hits. Santiago picked up a pair of singles while Brown added a single to his home run.

Thursday night Manager Whitey Wietelmann will pitch Roger Wright, last year's relief ace who is trying to work into the regular starting rotation this season.

The Chiefs return to Sherman Field Friday night against the Sioux City Soos.

Norm Brown Boosts Chiefs Into First-Place Tie

Oklahoma Next For Huskers

Hofmaier May Hurl First Game Friday

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Sixteen University of Nebraska baseball players head for Oklahoma today for a two-game series with the defending Big Seven Conference champions in a series which can make or break either club.

In the University of Oklahoma Sooners Tony Sharpe and his conference leading Huskers (2-0) are challenging a baseball organization which has won the Big Seven twice in the last three years under Coach Jack Baer.

Baer still runs the baseball show at Norman and this spring is running a club which lost only two players from the 1953 kings who split two games with Nebraska and beat the Huskers in a close pennant race.

Sharpe takes the Huskers into a ball park similar to the Lincoln diamond. The fences stand at 350-feet in right and left and at 375 in center.

He declined to finger a pitcher for either game but the possibility that Lefty Fran Hofmaier will throw the opener is strong.

Dick Geier is the other lefthander who will make the trip while right-handers available are Pat Mallette, Charley Wright, Jerry Shaw and Ray Novak.

Novak, the leading conference pitcher last year, was unimpressive against Tulsa on the southern trip but reported he felt fine in a workout after the Tuesday game against Kansas.

The Huskers can play four lefties in Jim Cederdahl, Pat Mallette, Dierkes Rolston and Virg Gottsch.

The roster:

Catchers—Bob Lohrberg and Murray Backhaus.
Infielders—Norman Coufal, Virgil Gottsch, Dierkes Rolston, Ray Novak, Fred Seger.
Outfielders—Bill Giles, Jim Cederdahl, Don Becker, Pat Mallette, Dan Brown.
Pitchers—Fran Hofmaier, Dick Geier, Jerry Shaw, Charley Wright.

Hearing Set For New Micro Race Location

A public hearing on the licensing of Micro Midgets Racing Association at a proposed location on the State Fairgrounds has been set for April 27 by the Lancaster County Commissioners.

The Association hopes to relocate its race track from a West Van Dorn site to a leased tract of about 20 acres in the southwest corner of the Fairgrounds.

Safety First As Bauer Returns To Third

George Kell, Boston third baseman, reaches for the throw from Catcher Sammy White, who had fielded Goodman's bad throw to the plate. The Yankees won, 5-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Staley Goes Route, Halts Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gerry Staley Wednesday night became the first St. Louis Cardinal pitcher to pitch a complete game this season as he hurled the Cards to a 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Reds played the game under protest from the third inning, however. Manager Birdie Tebbetts based his protest on a claim that Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards had ignored warnings of the umpires to quit getting out of the coaching box.

The ruckus over Stanky's antics in the coaching box led to his ouster from the game.

Rip Repulski's home run on the second pitch of the ball game gave the Cards a lead they never relinquished but it took a three-run outburst in the sixth to assure the Redbird victory.

Giants Nipped

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their winning run on an error in the eighth inning as they edged the New York Giants, 5-4. Outfielder Frank Thomas got the Pirates off to a running start as he belted a three-run homer in the first inning off starter Larry Jansen.

The win was credited to Max Surkont, his first since joining the Pirates in a midwinter trade with the Milwaukee Braves. He lost his first start of the year.

Doby's Tap Helps Ruin No-Hitter

Turley Misses Peak Game By Two Outs

BALTIMORE (AP)—A no-hitter and the ball game blew up in Bob Turley's face with only two outs to go when Larry Doby homered behind Al Rosen's single Wednesday for a 2-1 Cleveland Indian victory over the Baltimore Orioles before 43,383 shocked fans.

The 23-year-old speedball artist had the Indians at his mercy as he fanned Dave Pope, a pinchhitter, to start the ninth. It was the 14th strikeout for the youngster who had the first crowd to see a major league night baseball game in Baltimore roaring for a no-hitter since the seventh inning.

Rosen, last year's American League most valuable player, broke the spell at that point by lining a single just over the infield between third and short for the first hit off the big blond pitcher.

Doby, who twice had been the victim of Turley's third strikes, looked at one ball and lined the next pitch into the right field stands about 360 feet away.

It was a rude jolt to Turley who had struck out every regular on the Indians. In the first and fourth he fanned three. With the bases loaded and one out in the fourth, he fanned Dave Philley and George Strickland to slam the door with a resounding bang.

Ace Righthander Wins Second, Hits Home Run

From Press Dispatches

DES MOINES —Norm Brown, the Western League's biggest winner, pitched and batted Lincoln to a 4-2 victory over the Des Moines Bruins Wednesday night and in doing so shoved the Chiefs into a first-place tie with Pueblo.

Pueblo lost a 13-10 decision to Denver Wednesday night. Both the Dodgers and the Chiefs have 4-1 records.

Brown scattered eight hits to notch his second victory and second complete game in two starts. He also smashed a home run against the Bruins.

Brown homered with nobody on in the third inning. Then Red McQuillen added another four-bagger after Andy Anderson's single in the sixth for a 3-0 Lincoln lead.

Norm Brown

Brown had a two-hit shutout for six innings before loading the bases in the seventh, but escaped then without damage. He yielded two runs in the eighth on Bill Beery's bunt, a double by Bob Speake and a single by Jim Reiter.

Lincoln got its final run in the ninth on three walks and a sacrifice fly by John Paul Jones.

Shortstop Carlos Santiago and Brown collected four of Lincoln's seven hits. Santiago picked up a pair of singles while Brown added a single to his home run.

Thursday night Manager Whitey Wietelmann will pitch Roger Wright, last year's relief ace who is trying to work into the regular starting rotation this season.

The Chiefs return to Sherman Field Friday night against the Sioux City Soos.

Clayton Scott Paces Antelopes

Strong Kearney Easily Tops Wesleyan

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

The powerful track and field squad of Kearney College continued its sweep of the Nebraska College Conference field with a heavy 94 1/6 to 41 5/6 victory over Wesleyan in Magee Stadium Wednesday afternoon.

Clayton Scott of Kearney won his specialities, the mile and the two mile, and led the Antelopes in their performance on a soft track.

Scott did the mile in 4:34.1 and the two-mile in 9:49.

Ayres of Kearney won the 100-yard dash in :10 and the 220 in :21.7. Hardin of Wesleyan also was a double winner with a first in the 120-yard high hurdles and a tie for first in the high jump with Troyer of Kearney.

An excellent race was the mile relay in which the lead changed four times with Wesleyan taking the event when Loren Eigenberg overcame a five yard deficit and won by 10 yards in the home stretch.

Jones Kayos Gil Turner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bobby Jones, a methodical workman from Oakland, Calif., won on a technical knockout over hometown favorite Gil Turner in 1:12 of the 10th round Wednesday night at the hot, murky arena here. Jones weighed 154½ and Turner 152½ for the nationally televised (CBS) fight.

The 29-year-old Jones, well ahead most of the fight, caught the onrushing Turner with a right hand to the chin early in the 10th round and followed it with a smashing left to the body.

Turner fell into the ropes, his gloves hanging at his sides, as the Californian drove both hands to the face and body. Blood streamed from a cut above Turner's left eye as he lurched across the ring and almost fell through the ropes.

Referee Zack Clayton stepped in and stopped the fight.

It was only the second time in Turner's career that the Philadelphia Negro has been stopped. He lost on a TKO in the summer of 1952 in a welterweight title bout with Kid Gavilan.

Suggest Limit NU Contracts

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said Wednesday he plans to introduce in the Legislature next week a resolution directing the University of Nebraska Board of Regents to limit contracts with athletic coaches to four years.

Head Football Coach Bill Glassford has a five-year contract but a five-year option in effect gives him a 10-year contract.

Glassford earlier this year was under some pressure to resign but was protected by the contract.

"We all know that coaching is a hazardous business, but this is not a Glassford-should or Glassford-shouldn't proposition," commented Syas.

"Ten year contracts are not in fav of the university. The coach can walk out any time. Glassford didn't—but it has happened too often."

Syas said 10 years too long "to be stuck for."

"Four years are enough to sign up for at any one time. The contract could be renewed at the end of four years but I am not in favor of any option clause."

Army Records Dickenson Red-Cooperation Claim

Ex-POW Is Witness At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army read into the record of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson's court martial a statement by Dickenson that he cooperated with the Communists "in appreciation" for being released from jail at a prisoner of war camp in Korea.

The statement was accepted in spite of objections by the defense that it was obtained illegally shortly after Dickenson's repatriation last November.

Earlier, another returned war prisoner glared at Dickenson and swore he saw him push an ailing POW downstairs after the sick man asked for food.

Dickenson, from Crackers Neck, Va., took the witness chair himself to challenge the introduction of the statement he made last November. He is charged with collaborating with the enemy to get favors for himself.

'Captain Bert'

At one point, Dickenson testified an Army intelligence officer named "Captain Bert" had lied about the manner in which the statement was obtained.

Bert, whose identity was not otherwise disclosed, had appeared in secret session to tell the eight-member court about the circumstances of the statement.

Speaking in a clear southern voice, the round-faced Dickenson said Bert did not tell him when the statement was taken that he was under suspicion for any offense.

Guy Emery, Dickenson's counsel, told the court the Code of Military Justice requires anyone under suspicion be so advised before a statement is taken from him.

Asked whether Bert had lied in any of his secret-to-the-public testimony, Dickensen replied: "In some things, sir."

Col. Richard F. Scarborough, presiding, allowed the Army prosecutor to read the statement with the name of Captain Bert deleted.

In the statement Dickenson said that soon after his capture in November, 1950, he tried to escape, but was captured and sent to jail "where I underwent cruel and brutal treatment."

When he was released and asked to co-operate with his captors, he said, "I agreed to go along in appreciation."

The statement cited numerous articles written by Dickenson for Communist publications as well as admissions that he made recordings for the Reds, joined Communist indoctrination groups and signed and circulated Red petitions.

Kestnbaum Gets Job Left By Manion

AUGUSTA (INS) — President Eisenhower named men's clothing manufacturer Meyer Kestnbaum of Chicago to succeed Clarence Manion as chairman of the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

The chairmanship of the 25-man commission studying federal-state relations has been vacant since Manion resigned at the administration's request last Feb. 24.

The 57-year-old Kestnbaum is president of the men's clothing firm of Hart, Schaffner and Marx. He is also chairman of the Committee for Economic Development and is presently serving as director of the Community Fund of Chicago.

Kestnbaum, who was active in the Citizens-For-Eisenhower movement during the 1952 campaign, will be sworn in at the White House Thursday. Mr. Eisenhower will stop by the executive mansion to witness the swearing-in ceremony before flying on to New York after his Washington speech to the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Manion's resignation was asked by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams because of his outspoken support for the Bricker Constitutional Amendment, which was bitterly opposed by Mr. Eisenhower.

Cole Asks $250,000 Probe Of Housing Scandal

Permanent Study Unit Requested

WASHINGTON (INS)—Housing chief Albert M. Cole asked Congress to approve a $250,000 investigation of federal housing scandals but warned that millions of dollars in excessive profits made by builders cannot be recovered.

Cole told a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee $100.000 is needed to complete the Housing and Home Finance Agency's current probe of fraud and mismanagement in the Federal Housing Administration.

Another $150,000, he said, is necessary to establish a permanent investigating unit in the HHFA to check on the operation of the FHA, the Public Housing Administration and other segments of the far-flung federal operation

The housing official declared excessive profits made by builders under the post-war emergency loan program for apartment construction cannot be recovered unless there is proof of "fraud and collusion"

'Not Illegal'

Cole declared the half-billion-dollar "windfall" going to builders when they built apartments for less than the FHA mortgage are "not illegal" although they are "neither ethical nor fair"

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), asked Cole whether "we are going to get any of the money back?" Cole answered: "It is possible in cases of fraud and collusion We will do everything we can to protect the interests of the government."

Sen Burnet Maybank (D-SC) noted that some apartment houses are still in construction under the program and declared excessive profits "still can happen"

Cole did not dispute this and, in answer to another question, said he was unable to estimate how many of the 7,0000 apartment projects are "suspected" of violating FHA regulations.

Circus Atmosphere

In the Senate Banking Committee's probe of the housing scandal, Chairman Homer E Capehart (R-Ind) accused a private home building industry official of "trying to beat the brains out of the committee and the President."

R. G. Hughes, first industry witness before Capehart's group, ran into sharp criticism because of a statement he issued last week as president of the National Association of Home Builders.

The statement said the committee and the President were creating "a circus atmosphere" in connection with investigations of the half-billion-dollar housing scandal.

Hughes testified that the probes are creating "hysteria" and will produce a sharp drop in home building.

Cole Asks $250,000 Probe Of Housing Scandal

Permanent Study Unit Requested

WASHINGTON (INS)—Housing chief Albert M. Cole asked Congress to approve a $250,000 investigation of federal housing scandals but warned that millions of dollars in excessive profits made by builders cannot be recovered.

Cole told a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee $100,000 is needed to complete the Housing and Home Finance Agency's current probe of fraud and mismanagement in the Federal Housing Administration.

Another $150,000, he said, is necessary to establish a permanent investigating unit in the HHFA to check on the operation of the FHA, the Public Housing Administration and other segments of the far-flung federal operation.

The housing official declared excessive profits made by builders under the post-war emergency loan program for apartment construction cannot be recovered unless there is proof of "fraud and collusion."

'Not Illegal'

Cole declared the half-billion-dollar "windfall" going to builders when they built apartments for less than the FHA mortgage are "not illegal" although they are "neither ethical nor fair."

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), asked Cole whether "we are going to get any of the money back?" Cole answered: "It is possible in cases of fraud and collusion. We will do everything we can to protect the interests of the government."

Sen. Burnet Maybank (D-SC) noted that some apartment houses are still in construction under the program and declared excessive profits "still can happen."

Cole did not dispute this and, in answer to another question, said he was unable to estimate how many of the 7,0000 apartment projects are "suspected" of violating FHA regulations.

Circus Atmosphere

In the Senate Banking Committee's probe of the housing scandal, Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) accused a private home building industry official of "trying to beat the brains out of the committee and the President."

R. G. Hughes, first industry witness before Capehart's group, ran into sharp criticism because of a statement he issued last week as president of the National Association of Home Builders.

The statement said the committee and the President were creating "a circus atmosphere" in connection with investigations of the half-billion-dollar housing scandal.

Hughes testified that the probes are creating "hysteria" and will produce a sharp drop in home building.

Showdown In McCarthy-Army Row Is Readied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-heralded public showdown in the roaring fight between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and high Pentagon officials opens in the full glare of television lights and world-wide publicity.

Three TV networks—NBC, ABC and Dumont—will carry the full proceedings from the big, palatial caucus room of the Senate Office Building, starting around 9 a.m. CST. CBS will televise parts of the hearings on regular news programs, and radio networks will air both "live" and recorded excerpts.

McCarthy is due to fly back from delivering a San Jacinto Day speech at Houston, Tex., in time to confront his principal adversary, Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, by the time Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee bangs the starting gavel.

'Find Out Truth'

Mundt said all the subcommittee expects to do is "try to find out the truth and make it available to the public."

Ray H. Jenkins, the Knoxville lawyer engaged as special counsel for the inquiry, said "the facts will be presented fully, fairly and fearlessly."

For an expected 10 days or two weeks the somewhat reshuffled subcommittee, with a brand new set of operating rules, will quiz witnesses and sift counter-charges in an effort to answer two questions:

1. Did McCarthy and aids Roy M. Cohn and Francis Carr try—as Army officials contend — by "improper means" to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a subcommittee consultant who was drafted into the Army last November?

2. Did Stevens, Army Counsel John Adams and others resort—as the McCarthy forces allege—to dishonest tactics, even "blackmail," to block an investigation of alleged "protecting" of Communists infiltrating the Army's ranks?

Wilson Backs Hensel

Almost on the eve of the public hearings, McCarthy dropped a new charge into the hopper—that Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel masterminded a move to "discredit" the Senate investigators and block a probe of "serious charges" against himself.

Hensel called the accusations "bare-faced lies." His boss, Secretary of Defense Wilson, gave him a note of confidence, telling a news conference Hensel is "a competent, honest man" or he wouldn't be where he is. President Eisenhower used almost those exact words in praise of Stevens after McCarthy assailed the army secretary weeks ago.

McCarthy has alleged that Hensel made at least $56,526 in three World War II years from a private ship supply firm operating with government priorities. Hensel was then a big Navy official.

Hensel replied that the firm supplied food to private ship lines and private ship chandlers, that he has derived no benefits from it, but expects to get some profits later. He said it is "malicious and dishonest" to allege he did anything illegal or unethical.

Shortage Ups Military Need For Psychiatry

The military today is forced to accept marginal and substandard men because of a manpower shortage, consequently they must increase their psychiatric facilities.

That is what Capt. Elmer L. Caveny, chief of Navy psychiatrists, told a joint meeting of the Lancaster County Medical Society and U.S. Naval Reserve Medical Co. 9-9 at the Cornhusker Hotel.

He said that the manpower shortage is due partly to a decreased number of eligible males and also to the increased amount of technical and specialized work. The man who was equal to the job in earlier times now finds he has more than he can handle, he said.

"The Navy has found that no test given before the man is taken in will give a good indication of whether the man will adapt or not," Capt. Caveny said.

He said that the Navy has found that a man who completes the 11-week recruit training successfully "will very likely have little emotional and mental difficulty in the service. We try to select in the men rather than screen them out."

He added that civilian record is not a good indication of whether a man will adjust to service life. "Many men who have had emotional difficulties before enlistment make the adjustment to life in the service," he said.

Circulation Rise, Increasing Ad Dollar Fight Is Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—A rise in newspaper circulations but an increasing fight for the advertising dollar was predicted for 1954 at the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

George C. Biggers, ANPA president, said production costs have risen rapidly and that television's competition for advertising must not be treated lightly.

Biggers, president of the Atlanta, Ga., Journal and Constitution, said newspapers had a record year in both circulation and advertising in 1953, but he advised them to improve contantly so they will continue as "the best medium of them all."

"To look to the reader and the advertiser for the additional revenue that newspapers require is an outmoded formula," said Biggers in advocating better newspapers and larger circulations rather than higher advertising rates and newspaper prices.

High Costs

In similar vein, Charles J. Hentschell, St. Louis, Mo., Post-Dispatch, pointed to high production costs and said:

"Tirades against the unions and blasts at newsprint suppliers are not the complete answer. Certainly, these costs have gone up, but many of our troubles can be laid at our own feet."

Hentschell advised employment of a good production manager to cut waste and to increase the efficiency of mechanical equipment and operations.

Chesser M. Campbell, vice-president, Chicago Tribune, said there was a need for color in newspapers.

Campbell said color advertising, "combined with the other exclusive advantages of newspapers, can greatly strengthen our bid for a larger share of the advertising budget."

Point out that magazines, and now television, already were using color, he predicted newspaper use of color would reach a new peak in 1954.

He said the Tribune last year carried 464 pages of advertising in color, representing more than two million dollars in revenue.

The convention will close Thursday with election of officers.

Humphrey Child Dies Unexpectedly

NORFOLK, Neb. — Two-year-old Jane Claussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Claussen of Humphrey, died unexpectedly of embolism in a Norfolk hospital while playing with her nurse.

She appeared to be on the road to recovery after an operation to remove a kernel of corn from her lung. The youngster had inhaled a kernel of hard corn into her lung. She was taken to the Norfolk hospital for removal of the kernel of corn.

Did The Pen Murderer Wear Any Of These?

Is the owner of a pair of these shoes the slayer of Penitentiary Guard John Claussen. The footgear of eight inmates (shown) is part of the physical evidence—collected in the investigation—which will be taken to the FBI laboratory in Washington for examination and analysis. Wagener Maintains 'Silent Curtain' Around Prison Killing Investigation

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Investigators continued mum on details in the progress toward the solution of the brutal slaying of Penitentiary Guard John Claussen.

"Progress is being made," they say, but refuse any detailed discussion of the investigation which has been under way since the killing last Friday.

"It's almost like mental telepathy the way news reaches and goes through a prison," said County Attorney Frederick Wagener. "We just don't want the inmates to know what we know."

Asked if there had been any "near-breaks" in the case so far, Wagener said "I can't give a statement either way."

Wagner's answer was similar to a question as to whether the evidence had "built up" against any one inmate.

"I will make no statement as to when or how a solution could be expected," he added.

Wagener said that between 30 and 35 inmates had been interviewed so far in the investigation.

The 19 inmate-workers in the prison print shop, where Claussen was killed, have been confined to their cells throughout the investigation, Wagener added. The print shop had remained closed except to investigators.

VA Out-Patient Clinic Merger Plan Studied

The Lincoln medical out-patient and the Omaha medical and dental out-patient downtown clinics of the Veterans Administration, supervised by the regional office here, are being studied for combination with the VA hospitals in the two cities.

The manager of the regional office, Ashley Westmoreland, emphasized that the possibility is only in the study stage and any action to be taken will await further decisions in Washington.

Lincoln has no dental out-patient clinic but medical cases are handled in the regional office building at 12th and O. Westmoreland said the Lincoln clinic employs about 19 persons.

He said that about 800 veterans with service-connected disabilities are being treated each month in the two medical clinics. Dental work in Lincoln is done almost entirely by private dentists.

The consolidation is part of an over-all VA action to divide their nationwide activities into three parts—medical, insurance, and veterans benefits.

Circulation Rise, Increasing Ad Dollar Fight Is Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—A rise in newspaper circulations but an increasing fight for the advertising dollar was predicted for 1954 at the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

George C. Biggers, ANPA president, said production costs have risen rapidly and that television's competition for advertising must not be treated lightly.

Biggers, president of the Atlanta, Ga., Journal and Constitution, said newspapers had a record year in both circulation and advertising in 1953, but he advised them to improve constantly so they will continue as "the best medium of them all."

"To look to the reader and the advertiser for the additional revenue that newspapers require is an outmoded formula," said Biggers in advocating better newspapers and larger circulations rather than higher advertising rates and newspaper prices.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Spring has not made up its mind whether it will stay in New York or go on to more attractive surroundings.

A cold rain pours down on Madison Avenue beneath my windows. The commissioner in charge of noisy nights has been informed that I am in town. At 4 a.m. they unleash a machine. It sounds like furniture being dragged around the attic.

An expert taxi driver double-clutches as he roars across 54th street. He goes around the block and repeats the performance.

All these things drive sleep far, far away.

It took me years to get used to the clatter of country life. The raccoon at the garbage pail. The squirrel on the roof. The bird cry and mayhem of the night.

Now I cannot sleep when a taxicab rushes by.

☆ ☆ ☆

The special machine is geared in tune to my window panes. The vibration sets up a sympathetic quiver in the glass. The glass rattles like dice in the hands of Nick the Greek.

In California, rattling window panes have one meaning. Earthquake.

I bound out of bed and head for the doorway. (The framework of a doorway is supposed to stand and ward off falling chimneys.)

Unfortunately the doorway is no longer where I figured it. I run smack into the wall.

By this time I am oriented. I turn on the light and examine my bruises. Sleep has fled up the avenue. I open the New Yorker and light a cigarette.

The New Yorker writes beautifully of quiet places. I think it is probably Mr. E. B. White, lover of nature. They nailed the seat of his britches in noisy New York and let him spin his dreams. Like a prisoner dreaming of escape.

"We were up there on that first real spring morning last week, and it was as if, with our eyes half closed to the sun, we could see the dangling strings of branches on the big old willows along the banks feathering out, from one moment to the next, into green garlands."

That is the way the New Yorker writes when spring is here. And the cold rain falls. And the taxis blat noisily beneath the windows.

☆ ☆ ☆

Shad Roe is in season. Fresh from the Hudson. The other day I had lunch with Mr. Gordon Manning, the editor of Collier's, and Mr. Irving Hoffman, the man-about-Broadway.

We started at Toots Shor's bistro for journalists on 51st St. But Mr. Hoffman was all for escaping the city turmoil. Nothing would do but we must hail a taxi and go up somewhere around 82nd to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mr. Hoffman said he used this as an escape. He led us through suits of Italian armor. Past yellow fragments of Assyrian bas reliefs on which gentlemen of an ancient age escaped in wine and song and war.

In the back, surrounded by Roman pillars, there was a great square fountain. The water bubbled up over green tile. And all around people sat eating lunch.

☆ ☆ ☆

"When the heat was on the bookies," said Mr. Hoffman, "a bookie of my acquaintance wandered in here one day. He was impressed by the solitude and beauty. And even more impressed by the pay phone booths."

Mr. Hoffman said the bookie spent several months in the museum. Booking bets on the pay telephones. He even took bets from the guards.

"At the end of the heat," said Mr Hoffman, "he came out with a respectable knowledge of art and could whack off long conversations about painting and statuary and such."

Mr. Hoffman himself often gets caviar sandwiches and a bottle of soda pop and rows over to a little island in Central Park to do his daily work.

He said there is a New York gentleman who shows up every Saturday in a midtown delicatessen. He is dressed in duster, goggles and the other gear of an automobilist of the 1900s. He orders two caviar sandwiches at $8 apiece and a bottle of champagne.

They think he goes up to his room and has a daydream picnic.

Grand Island Paving Battle Brief Is Filed

The Grand Island City Council contends in a brief filed in State Supreme Court that the power to fix interest rates on special assessments for paving and other improvements should rest with the city under its home rule charter.

The council urges the high court to uphold a District Court decision that the city has the authority.

Joseph D. Martin appealed from the District Court decision, contending that interest charged on his paving assessment should not have exceeded 6 per cent under an act which he sponsored in the 1953 Legislature.

The city seeks to charge 9 per cent interest.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Spring has not made up its mind whether it will stay in New York or go on to more attractive surroundings.

A cold rain pours down on Madison Avenue beneath my windows. The commissioner in charge of noisy nights has been informed that I am in town. At 4 a.m. they unleash a machine. It sounds like furniture being dragged around the attic.

An expert taxi driver double-clutches as he roars across 54th street. He goes around the block and repeats the performance.

All these things drive sleep far, far away.

It took me years to get used to the clatter of country life. The raccoon at the garbage pail. The squirrel on the roof. The bird cry and mayhem of the night.

Now I cannot sleep when a taxicab rushes by.

☆ ☆ ☆

The special machine is geared in tune to my window panes. The vibration sets up a sympathetic quiver in the glass. The glass rattles like dice in the hands of Nick the Greek.

In California, rattling window panes have one meaning. Earthquake.

I bound out of bed and head for the doorway. (The framework of a doorway is supposed to stand and ward off falling chimneys.)

Unfortunately the doorway is no longer where I figured it. I run smack into the wall.

By this time I am oriented. I turn on the light and examine my bruises. Sleep has fled up the avenue. I open the New Yorker and light a cigarette.

The New Yorker writes beautifully of quiet places. I think it is probably Mr. E. B. White, lover of nature. They nailed the seat of his britches in noisy New York and let him spin his dreams. Like a prisoner dreaming of escape.

"We were up there on that first real spring morning last week, and it was as if, with our eyes half closed to the sun, we could see the dangling strings of branches on the big old willows along the banks feathering out, from one moment to the next, into green garlands."

That is the way the New Yorker writes when spring is here. And the cold rain falls. And the taxis blat noisily beneath the windows.

☆ ☆ ☆

Shad Roe is in season. Fresh from the Hudson. The other day I had lunch with Mr. Gordon Manning, the editor of Collier's, and Mr. Irving Hoffman, the man-about-Broadway.

We started at Toots Shor's bistro for journalists on 51st St. But Mr. Hoffman was all for escaping the city turmoil. Nothing would do but we must hail a taxi and go up somewhere around 82nd to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mr. Hoffman said he used this as an escape. He led us through suits of Italian armor. Past yellow fragments of Assyrian bas reliefs on which gentlemen of an ancient age escaped in wine and song and war.

In the back, surrounded by Roman pillars, there was a great square fountain. The water bubbled up over green tile. And all around people sat eating lunch.

☆ ☆ ☆

"When the heat was on the bookies," said Mr. Hoffman, "a bookie of my acquaintance wandered in here one day. He was impressed by the solitude and beauty. And even more impressed by the pay phone booths."

Mr. Hoffman said the bookie spent several months in the museum. Booking bets on the pay telephones. He even took bets from the guards.

"At the end of the heat," said Mr. Hoffman, "he came out with a respectable knowledge of art and could whack off long conversations about painting and statuary and such."

Mr. Hoffman himself often gets caviar sandwiches and a bottle of soda pop and rows over to a little island in Central Park to do his daily work.

He said there is a New York gentleman who shows up every Saturday in a midtown delicatessen. He is dressed in duster, goggles and the other gear of an automobilist of the 1900s. He orders two caviar sandwiches at $8 apiece and a bottle of champagne.

They think he goes up to his room and has a daydream picnic.

Russia's Budget Is Biggest In History

MOSCOW (AP) — The biggest budget in Soviet history went before Parliament for approval. Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev said defense appropriations—17.8 per cent of the total—"strengthen the defense capabilities of our state."

The defense figure of 100,300,000,000 rubles was almost 10 per cent less than the 1953 allotment, which in turn, was a reduction from 1952. But Western observers in Moscow said it was difficult to measure a Soviet Union budget, especially defense appropriations. They said this is because the state owns and operates the country's entire economy, and fixes its own prices on any equipment needed for the armed forces.

The budget announcement anticipated a surplus of 9,100,000,000 rubles, from a total revenue of 571,800,000,000 rubles against expenditures of 562,700,000,000 rubles.

Dollar Comparison

Under an official Soviet exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar, the budget figures in dollars would be: Income $142,950,000,000; outgo $140,675,000,000; surplus $2,275,000,000; defense $25,075,000,000.

The budget message was read to the applause of 1,300 deputies in a joint session of the Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities, the two houses of Parliament.

Premier George Malenkov and other government and party leaders sat in a box behind the speakers' rostrum.

They heard Zverev accuse the United States of blocking East-West trade, especially with the Soviet Union. The finance minister said this policy damaged capitalist countries more than it did Russia. He said the Soviet Union was working not only for peace but for increased world trade.

Increases in the budget for health services, physical training, social insurance, cultural measures and education were expected to be talking points in the Soviet Union's international politics.

Here were some comparative figures (costs in dollars):

In 1952 defense expenditures were announced as 23.6 per cent of the total budget. In 1953 they were announced as 20.8 per cent.

The 1953 defense figure was $25,750,000,000 compared with the 1954 estimate of $25,750,000,000

Revenue 1954—$142,950,000,000; 1953—$135,575,000,000.

Expenditures 1954 — $140,675,000,000; 1953—$132,625,000,000.

Social and cultural measures $33,325,000,000, an increase of $2,875,000,000 over last year.

Education $16,775,000,000, an increase of $1,250,000,000.

Health services and physical culture $7,325,000,000, an increase of $1,125,000,000.

Social maintenance and insurance $11,225,000,000, increase of 500 million dollars over last year.

SAC 'Operation Safe Wheels' To Be May Event

"Operation Safe Wheels," the Strategic Air Command's annual safety campaign, will be held during May, according to an announcement by Col. Irvin Wursten, commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The yearly campaign to reduce traffic accidents, he said, has been initiated in order to combat losses of manpower and material and needless loss of life.

It will be sponsored jointly by the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council and the Lincoln Air Force Base and will support the President's recent plea to help reduce traffic accidents.

"A great success was achieved in last year's campaign,' Wursten said. "Strategic Air Command saved nine dollars for every dollar invested in accident prevention by decreasing accident rates and the resultant monetary losses."

The budget message was read to the applause of 1,300 deputies in a joint session of the Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities, the two houses of Parliament.

Premier George Malenkov and other government and party leaders sat in a box behind the speakers' rostrum.

They heard Zverev accuse the United States of blocking East-West trade, especially with the Soviet Union. The finance minister said this policy damaged capitalist countries more than it did Russia. He said the Soviet Union was working not only for peace but for increased world trade.

Increases in the budget for health services, physical training, social insurance, cultural measures and education were expected to be talking points in the Soviet Union's international politics.

Here were some comparative figures (costs in dollars):

In 1952 defense expenditures were announced as 23.6 per cent of the total budget. In 1953 they were announced as 20.8 per cent.

The 1953 defense figure was $25,750,000,000 compared with the 1954 estimate of $25,750,000,000

Revenue 1954—$142,950,000,000, 1953—$135,575,000,000.

Expenditures 1954 — $140,675,000,000; 1953—$132,625,000,000.

Social and cultural measures $33,325,000,000, an increase of $2,875,000,000 over last year.

Education $16,775,000,000, an increase of $1,250,000,00

Health services and physical culture $7,325,000,000, an increase of $1,125,000,000.

Social maintenance and insurance $11,225,000,000, increase of 500 million dollars over last year.

SAC 'Operation Safe Wheels' To Be May Event

"Operation Safe Wheels," the Strategic Air Command's annual safety campaign, will be held during May, according to an announcement by Col. Irvin Wursten, commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The yearly campaign to reduce traffic accidents, he said, has been initiated in order to combat losses of manpower and material and needless loss of life.

It will be sponsored jointly by the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council and the Lincoln Air Force Base and will support the President's recent plea to help reduce traffic accidents.

"A great success was achieved in last year's campaign,' Wursten said. "Strategic Air Command saved nine dollars for every dollar invested in accident prevention by decreasing accident rates and the resultant monetary losses."

Reds Demand Aussies Give Up Petrov

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The Russians accused their fugitive third secretary, Vladimir Petrov, of embezzling embassy funds and demanded that Australia give him up.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies promptly dismissed the charge as a "purely conventional Soviet allegation" and said it would not in any way affect the investigation of a Soviet-leld espionage ring uncovered by documents given the Australians by Petrov.

Nervous Collapse

Menzies challenged Soviet Ambassador Nikoali Generalov to testify before the royal commission investigating the Petrov documents, but there were reports Generalov had suffered a nervous collapse over the case. The switchboard operator at the embassy told inquirers Genealov was ill.

But further indication of the importance being attached to the Petrov case by the Soviet Union was seen in the recall of two more Russians in Australia to Moscow. An Australian government spokesman said come home orders had been issued to Y. E. Platkais, the junior member of the Soviet diplomatic corps here, and to the representative of the Tass news agency in Australia, a Mr. Antonieff.

'Hand Him Over'

The Soviet embassy delivered a note to the Australian government charging that Petrov had obtained by forgery "large sums of state money." The note asked Australia to "take measures to detain Petrov as a criminal and hand him over to the embassy."

The note came the day after Mrs. Petrov had decided to follow the same course as her husband and seek political asylum in Australia.

The Soviet note charged that Petrov's statements to Australian security officials were without foundatio. and suggested the documents he brought with him might be forgeries.

The note asserted Petrov sought asylum in order to escape prosecution on the criminal charges.

Lease Of County Land For Park Use Okayed

The Lancaster County Board has authorized a nine-year lease of the county's 9.48-acre tract near Oak Creek Park to the City of Lincoln for use as a park and recreational ground.

The lease, yet to be drafted and formally approved by both governmental bodies, would provide for the dedication of the land as a park in the consideration that the city will bear all expense for its maintenance and care.

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce had asked that the county's tract be included in the development of Oak Creek Park, being promoted by the organization.

Kuhner Doesn't Vote

Commissioner Chris Kuhner, declining to vote, objected to the leasing resolution as not restrictive enough in the area's use. "I can't go along with that trap shoot," he said.

(A trap shoot as well as parking facilities and two model airplane flying circles has been planned for the county's tract by the developing committee.)

The other two commissioners pointed out the impracticability of encumbering a lease with specific restrictions.

Dangers Known

They said the civic-minded developers of the park are mindful of any dangers from the trap shoot and there are law agencies it enforce the use of safeguards.

Earlier, Dr. Robert W. White, who has his veterinary offices at 300 West Charleston, expressed interest in purchasing the ground if not leased to the city, but made no offer.

To a question by the board, Dr. White said he had no objection as a nearby resident to development of the area as a park except for the trap shoot.

Action Deferred

In other action, the commissioners deferred action on a water softener installation for the Westview Nursing Home pending a further report by Kuhner.

A Lindsay Water Softener sales representative told the board the water from Westview's well tested 36-grains hard, or about three times the hardness of Lincoln's water.

Hardness of the waeter has caused the need for replacement of water pipes and plumbing a the county's nursing home as well as a handicap to laundry operations, Kuhner said.

The Lindsay representative said the "commercial-type" unit needed would cost $475 installed, with chemical supplies costing about $2.20 for a six-week period.

Belmont Center Given Speaker

The Jeans and Calico Square Dance Club has donated a new speaker for the Belmont Community Center public address system, it was reported at the monthly meeting of the board of directors.

In other action, the board:

Reported March attendance was 2,400.

Reported the Square Dance and Social Dance Club of the West Lincoln PTA and the Northwest District Girls Scout Council used the center's facilities during March.

Commended Director Chester Dill for his Silver Beaver Award.

Announced that Mrs. Stanley Wentz is a new member of the board, representing the Junior Women's Club of Lincoln.

Reported a large softball program is underway evenings at the center.

Stocks Dip Down; Aircrafts Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—A flurry of selling among railroads, motors and steels during the closing minutes tipped the stock market downward Wednesday despite the strong performance of most aircrafts.

Aircrafts sparked the market upward from the start, and steel shares combined with the aircrafts to give the market a steady appearance until the closing minutes. At that time, gains of U.S. Steel and Republic faded and the market eased. Motors, which were soft throughout the session, deepened their declines.

Farm implement shares held their early gains. But distillers, radio-TV, metal mining, chemicals, railroads and oils dipped into the minus column.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents to $118.80. It was off 10 cents Tuesday. The industrial component slipped 40 cents, while carriers lost 20 cents and utilities ended unchanged.

Volume amounted to 1,870,000 shares against 1,860,000 Tuesday. After a brisk early pace, trading turned selective and slow until the final minutes' flurry.

Most Grains Dip, Old Soybeans Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grain futures declined on the Board of Trade Wednesday, but old crop soybeans spurted as much as nine cents, May again selling at a new high since 1948.

May wheat also was firm, and a light demand lifted near-by contracts of corn by small fractions. In general, however, the grain market had a weaker tone as demand was limited and weather news created selling in wheat, new crop soybeans and the feed grains.

Wheat closed 1 cent lower to ⅜ higher, corn ½ lower to ⅜ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, rye ¼-1¼ lower, soybeans 1 cent lower to 9 cents higher and lard 3 to 22 cents a hundred pounds lower.

May soybeans rose the 10-cent daily limit at one time, selling at $4.05¾ shortly before the finish. At that point it was at the highest level for any soybean future since July 8, 1948. July soybeans came within a cent of $4.00, selling at $3.99½, a new seasonal high.

Dealings in old crop soybeans did not appear to be based on any specific news beyond the well known fact that supplies are short.

Firmness in May wheat was derived from reports of a better domestic flour trade and some export business. Yesterday took around 2½ million bushels of hard and red wheat during the day and was expected to buy 2½ million bushels more in the near future.

WHAT GOES ON IN A WHISKEY BARREL

by J. P. Van Winkle
President
Stitzel-Weller Distillery
Louisville, Kentucky
Established 1849

Want in on a secret? Only two distillers make whiskey that's fit to drink. They're Mother Nature and Father Time.

We give those two partners a free hand in our original open-tub, sour mash process. All we do is help them along.

Take the matter of aging . . .

In 6 days, thereabouts, we convert Nature's grain to the crystal liquid which bubbles over our tail box as NEW FITZGERALD. But Father Time requires at least 208 patient weeks to color it amber, gentle it to taste, and turn it into OLD FITZGERALD.

We furnish the old gentleman only new, heavily charred white oak barrels. The char only clarifies and purifies. What actually does age and color the whiskey is the thin layer of "caramelized" oak which lies just behind the char, and is formed in the stave at burning.

Our wooden warehouses are the open-rick type, designed to take full advantage of the Kentucky climate which, like our water, is unsurpassed in whiskey-making. Our 2,944 warehouse windows are opened each clear morning to permit the whiskey to "breathe." Our window crew alone costs us $14,000 a year.

But what's the sense of being located in the world's best whiskey-aging climate without taking full advantage of it?

No one uproots an oak to promote its growth, so we do not move the barrels or agitate the whiskey in any way—except to recooper an occasional leaker.

In fact our aging method—working slowly and patiently with Time and Nature—is unique in the industry, and accounts for more than a little of OLD FITZGERALD'S unique character.

May we invite you to join the inner circle of business executives who have discovered this satisfying difference, and find it good business to share, in moderation, with associates and friends.

Local Bank Deposits Continue Healthy Status; Increase By Nearly $6 Million

Lincoln bank deposits continued to show a healthy financial situation as they increased nearly $6 million from the end of the first quarter of the year on March 31 to the bank call day of April 15.

The April 15 call was issued by the comptroller of currency in Washington. The call figures show loans at approximately the same level between March 31 and April 15 while assets went up about $4 million.

Both deposits and assets for the six Lincoln banks as of April 15 were still behind those of Dec. 31, 1953 but the first quarter of the year is generally down due to tax payments, lessened farm income and other first of the year expenditures.

The Lincoln totals show deposits of $147,251,493.40 as of April 15, 1954; $141,551,684.64 as of March 31, 1954, and $152,320,168.67 as of Dec. 31, 1953. Total loans were $40,997,833.97 as of April 15, 1954; $40,824,615.99 as of March 31, 1954, and $37,697,459.88 as of Dec. 31, 1953.

Total assets were $157,660,343.98 as of April 15, 1954; $153,378,405.13 as of March 31, 1954, and $161,870,618.39 as of Dec. 31, 1953.

Stocks Dip Down; Aircrafts Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—A flurry of selling among railroads, motors and steels during the closing minutes tipped the stock market downward Wednesday despite the strong performance of most aircrafts.

Aircrafts sparked the market upward from the start, and steel shares combined with the aircrafts to give the market a steady appearance until the closing minutes. At that time, gains of U.S. Steel and Republic faded and the market eased. Motors, which were soft throughout the session, deepened their declines.

Farm implement shares held their early gains. But distillers, radio-TV, metal mining, chemicals, railroads and oils dipped into the minus column.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents to $118.80. It was off 10 cents Tuesday. The industrial component slipped 40 cents, while carriers lost 20 cents and utilities ended unchanged.

Volume amounted to 1,870,000 shares against 1,860,000 Tuesday. After a brisk early pace, trading turned selective and slow until the final minutes' flurry.

Most Grains Dip, Old Soybeans Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grain futures declined on the Board of Trade Wednesday, but old crop soybeans spurted as much as nine cents, May again selling at a new high since 1948.

May wheat also was firm, and a light demand lifted near-by contracts of corn by small fractions. In general, however, the grain market had a weaker tone as demand was limited and weather news created selling in wheat, new crop soybeans and the feed grains.

Wheat closed 1 cent lower to ⅜ higher; corn ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher; oats unchanged to ⅜ lower; rye ⅛-1¼ lower; soybeans 1 cent lower to 9 cents higher and lard 3 to 22 cents a hundred pounds lower.

May soybeans rose the 10-cent daily limit at one time, selling at $4.05¾ shortly before the finish. At that point it was at the highest level for any soybean future since July 8, 1948. July soybeans came within a cent of $4.00, selling at $3.99½, a new seasonal high.

Dealings in old crop soybeans did not appear to be based on any specific news beyond the well known fact that supplies are short.

Firmness in May wheat was derived from reports of a better domestic flour trade and some export business. Yugoslavia took around 2½ million bushels of hard and red wheat during the day and was expected to buy 2½ million bushels more in the near future.

In memory of my father Grant Byers. There is someone who misses you sadly & finds time long, since you went. There is someone who thinks of you daily & tries to be brave & content. Time does not heal an aching heart, this I know is true. For seven long years have passed dear, and my heart still aches for you. Blanche Stromer. 22
